Grants Discuss North and South American Peace

Says "Monroe Doctrine" Has Become the America's Doctrine

The American, Guardians of Peace" was the topic discussed by Mr. David Grant, American Consul to Pan American Airways, in Assembly on May 9. He pointed out that this happened at the time of the growth of the friendly countries among the twenty-one American countries in spite of foreign propaganda at work in the New World. He stressed that the "Monroe Doctrine" has become "America's Doctrine." Mr. Grant dis­cussed the effect of the two Roosevelt policies in Latin America. He also talked of the relations with us, as teachers, to create better understanding of mutual problems. In this connection, he explained the work of the foreign language department in American and South Americans in the ways, work, hopes, and help of their neighbors.

Former Army Attaché

"We, the American, of the nation. Grant, stated, "may some day have to send a cultural ambassador to a destroyed Europe, to return the heritage that we have sent to that country in the past years. It is our duty in these trying times to preserve civilization our country, our state, and our school."

David Grant was born in Santa Fe, New Mexico. He attended school in the Montgomery States and graduated from the City College of New York. For two years he was military attaché at the American Embassy in Madrid.

Grant Discusses North and South American Peace

Says "Monroe Doctrine" Has Become the America's Doctrine

"The American, Guardians of Peace" was the topic discussed by Mr. David Grant, American Consul to Pan American Airways, in Assembly on May 9. He pointed out that this happened at the time of the growth of the friendly countries among the twenty-one American countries in spite of foreign propaganda at work in the New World. He stressed that the "Monroe Doctrine" has become "America's Doctrine." Mr. Grant dis­cussed the effect of the two Roosevelt policies in Latin America. He also talked of the relations with us, as teachers, to create better understanding of mutual problems. In this connection, he explained the work of the foreign language department in American and South Americans in the ways, work, hopes, and help of their neighbors.

Former Army Attaché

"We, the American, of the nation. Grant, stated, "may some day have to send a cultural ambassador to a destroyed Europe, to return the heritage that we have sent to that country in the past years. It is our duty in these trying times to preserve civilization our country, our state, and our school."

David Grant was born in Santa Fe, New Mexico. He attended school in the Montgomery States and graduated from the City College of New York. For two years he was military attaché at the American Embassy in Madrid.
The New Curriculum

As we pass through the main hall these days a glimmer into the business offices is often rewarded by the sight of bearded members of next year's Freshman Class.

These entering students, as well as the new Sophomore Class, will go into the new curriculum, and will have opportunity to work in September. This will be the same for all students during the first two years. However, there will be time for scheduled electives. This will permit into the new curriculum, which has been compiled and will be in operation in September. The course will be the same for all students during the first two years the three weeks' work has been condensed into one week's labor.

We have assigned term papers at the beginning of a semester only to have them pile up on us in the last week when we can't possibly give them the attention which may explain the mystery. The class roared. Alas! the label "terrorist" called the welcher," said the student from the young lady. Here were over nouns and verbs, and other such forgotten lore.

One of the most interesting phases of our activities outside Newark State is contact with students and faculty members of other colleges. Many advertisements were scattered throughout the latter portion of the book. Numerous yearbooks have been edited since the first. Major themes and recurring changes and innovations have occurred in the way of general layout, type of art, and so forth. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Notes on Notables

Miss Bertha R. Kain has been selected Chairman of the Dean's Conference of the Eastern States Association of Teachers. Miss Kain will fill the office for the year 1940-41.

Two new members of the yearbook staff, by Martha Downs may be found in the annual publication of the American Association of Teachers. Miss Downs made the speech which may serve to increase the efficiency of our organization. The solution of their problems may be a helpful factor in our attempts to solve our own. The first reading student-published papers from other colleges cannot be exaggerated.

One by going off in the middle of the year, if you please, be addressed as Joseph D'Angelo, Wildy Slinger, Anita B'Angelo, arts J. Singler, Evelyn A. Bowman, Nancy Thompson, Minnie Liggins, R. D. Bandy.

The prevailing hair style was the straight plaited type with the bang forward, although some of the faculty members preferred a variation on the original theme in the way of curled bangs. Long dark hearted plaited gym bloomers with big white round eyes allowed all of the better dressed to be active sport. Mr. D'Angelo acted in the capacity of staff photographer. There were many literary contributions in the form of essays, poetry and vitriol. Many advertisements were scattered throughout the latter portion of the book.

The Pigeon—or Getting the Bird

Note: The italicized lines below are not a misprint. They were inspired by an innocent and loyal pigeon which flew, via an open window, into a first story room on the third floor. After the blunder for which this shall, we say, we may, also the blind, be thrown on the shoulders of Edgar Allen Poe.

Once upon a morning dreary, Fresh- nest student, the other nine were members of the faculty of 1924: E. Marisa Baldwin, Clara Levy, Helen C. Snyder, Lillian W. Kreiner, Andrew Sloan, Martha Down, Jane Plenty, Francis M. Mitchell, John J. Hatch, Fred M. Richardson, Alice L. Rie, Penelope Dunn, Laura E. Rogers.

Oh, where, oh, where, can my молоди ever be found?

As they nodded, weeping, sud- dently there came a tapping, I do some one gently tapping, rapping at the class room door.

Tis some visitor, they muttered, "leaping on the swinging door— only this and nothing more!"

But soon the silence, and, but, certainly settling all of, each yellow curtain fantastica terras never felt before; So that then, to the beating of their hearts, they not repeating "Tis some visitor, entering ex- tinction at our class room door—"Tis some visitor, and not Miss Kain, outside the classroom door— This it is and nothing more!"

Note: The italicized lines below are not a misprint. They were inspired by an innocent and loyal pigeon which flew, via an open window, into a first story room on the third floor. After the blunder for which this shall, we say, we may, also the blind, be thrown on the shoulders of Edgar Allen Poe.

Recently their souls press stronger; hesitating then no longer, "Dean," said they, "Madam, truly your prepossessions we implore."

But the fact is, we were wapping, and so gently you come rapping, and so fairly you come rapping, tapping at our class room door—"

Tis some visitor, and not Miss Kain, outside the classroom door— This it is and nothing more!"

Pigeon in the English Class—Alas! Alas!

Joe Faculty.

Get your work in early. Have a heart!

The Reflector wishes to remind you that there remain approximately three weeks in the college term. It is remembered with regret that in past years the three weeks' work has been condensed into one week's labor.

Pigions in the English Class—Alas! Alas!

Dr. W. Spader Willis, Principal

The prevailing hair style was the straight plaited type with the bang forward, although some of the faculty members preferred a variation on the original theme in the way of curled bangs. Long dark hearted plaited gym bloomers with big white round eyes allowed all of the better dressed to be active sport. Mr. D'Angelo acted in the capacity of staff photographer. There were many literary contributions in the form of essays, poetry and vitriol. Many advertisements were scattered throughout the latter portion of the book.

The Pigeon—or Getting the Bird

Note: The italicized lines below are not a misprint. They were inspired by an innocent and loyal pigeon which flew, via an open window, into a first story room on the third floor. After the blunder for which this shall, we say, we may, also the blind, be thrown on the shoulders of Edgar Allen Poe.

Once upon a morning dreary, Fresh- nest student, the other nine were members of the faculty of 1924: E. Marisa Baldwin, Clara Levy, Helen C. Snyder, Lillian W. Kreiner, Andrew Sloan, Martha Down, Jane Plenty, Francis M. Mitchell, John J. Hatch, Fred M. Richardson, Alice L. Rie, Penelope Dunn, Laura E. Rogers.

Oh, where, oh, where, can my молоди ever be found?

As they nodded, weeping, sud- dently there came a tapping, I do some one gently tapping, rapping at the class room door.

Tis some visitor, they muttered, "leaping on the swinging door— only this and nothing more!"

But soon the silence, and, but, certainly settling all of, each yellow curtain fantastica terras never felt before; So that then, to the beating of their hearts, they not repeating "Tis some visitor, entering ex- tinction at our class room door—"Tis some visitor, and not Miss Kain, outside the classroom door— This it is and nothing more!"

Note: The italicized lines below are not a misprint. They were inspired by an innocent and loyal pigeon which flew, via an open window, into a first story room on the third floor. After the blunder for which this shall, we say, we may, also the blind, be thrown on the shoulders of Edgar Allen Poe.

Recently their souls press stronger; hesitating then no longer, "Dean," said they, "Madam, truly your prepossessions we implore."

But the fact is, we were wapping, and so gently you come rapping, and so fairly you come rapping, tapping at our class room door—"

Tis some visitor, and not Miss Kain, outside the classroom door— This it is and nothing more!"

Pigeon in the English Class—Alas! Alas!

Dr. W. Spader Willis, Principal

The prevailing hair style was the straight plaited type with the bang forward, although some of the faculty members preferred a variation on the original theme in the way of curled bangs. Long dark hearted plaited gym bloomers with big white round eyes allowed all of the better dressed to be active sport. Mr. D'Angelo acted in the capacity of staff photographer. There were many literary contributions in the form of essays, poetry and vitriol. Many advertisements were scattered throughout the latter portion of the book.

The Pigeon—or Getting the Bird

Note: The italicized lines below are not a misprint. They were inspired by an innocent and loyal pigeon which flew, via an open window, into a first story room on the third floor. After the blunder for which this shall, we say, we may, also the blind, be thrown on the shoulders of Edgar Allen Poe.

Once upon a morning dreary, Fresh- nest student, the other nine were members of the faculty of 1924: E. Marisa Baldwin, Clara Levy, Helen C. Snyder, Lillian W. Kreiner, Andrew Sloan, Martha Down, Jane Plenty, Francis M. Mitchell, John J. Hatch, Fred M. Richardson, Alice L. Rie, Penelope Dunn, Laura E. Rogers.

Oh, where, oh, where, can my молоди ever be found?

As they nodded, weeping, sud- dently there came a tapping, I do some one gently tapping, rapping at the class room door.

Tis some visitor, they muttered, "leaping on the swinging door— only this and nothing more!"

But soon the silence, and, but, certainly settling all of, each yellow curtain fantastica terras never felt before; So that then, to the beating of their hearts, they not repeating "Tis some visitor, entering ex- tinction at our class room door—"Tis some visitor, and not Miss Kain, outside the classroom door— This it is and nothing more!"

Note: The italicized lines below are not a misprint. They were inspired by an innocent and loyal pigeon which flew, via an open window, into a first story room on the third floor. After the blunder for which this shall, we say, we may, also the blind, be thrown on the shoulders of Edgar Allen Poe.

Recently their souls press stronger; hesitating then no longer, "Dean," said they, "Madam, truly your prepossessions we implore."

But the fact is, we were wapping, and so gently you come rapping, and so fairly you come rapping, tapping at our class room door—"

Tis some visitor, and not Miss Kain, outside the classroom door— This it is and nothing more!"
It's the Students Who Pay and Pay!

Sophomore Fine Arts Take Seniors on Ride—and How!

What happens when a girl wants to go to the movies and she is broke? The logical thing for a girl to do, since she can not afford to buy the ticket, is to go. What happens when the sophomore Fine Arts students wanted to go on a field trip to study housing conditions? The logical thing for them to do was to catch the senior who had the money to go with them. Evidently, they had the right technique, for it worked.

The newly installed members, Gloria Phillips, Mary Albert, club president, was invited to have a performance on May 10, and their decision has not yet been made as to where the picnic will be held. The decision will be made after a meeting on April 29, and the set will be picked up from the Times Building, by the students. The choice of location is between the Marlboro Inn, Montclair, and the community house in the city. This model is a replica of a country square at the home of the United States was formerly.

Woman’s Place is Where She Chooses it

Mary Albert, club president, was appointed the chairman of the committee, and is the brother of former Assemblyman, Mr. Bolinsky, who introduced the bil.

New I. A. Association Organized by Alumni

Today, the newly organized Industrial Arts Alumni Association of the collegiate branch, will consider the constitution and officers. At the meeting of April 29, sixty-two men, including the chairman, which was once president of the fraternity, was present. The election committee in charge of the election of the officers, including: Edward Ambry, Victor Bohsen, Eugene Cooper, Adelaide Gottlieb, and Mae Kunz. Invitation and place cards were sent on May 10. The occasion was a Farewell Picnic at Cherry Lane, Elizabethtown, on Friday evening, May 28. General entertainment will be provided by the students of the class of 1940, and the pictures are taken and proofed by the students of the class of 1940.

Epsilon Pi Tau Eclips

Epsilon Pi Tau, national honorary professional fraternity in Industrial Arts, will hold its annual meeting on May 22. Eleven men will be initiated into the fraternity, and will receive membership in the organization.

Spotted? Campfire? All the Same to Norms

The Normal Noreen Guild takes its place in the social register for babies and small children. This Thursday the Guild will celebrate its successful year by a picnic at South Mountain Reservation, overlooking the valley. The group will spend the afternoon and early evening at Cherry Lane among the trees, with the upstairs and downstairs. Dining room, and the pictures are taken on the picnic and taken by the students of the class of 1940, and the pictures are taken and proofed by the students of the class of 1940.
The Tennis Squad when spring practice was called.

The Newark State Teachers College tennis team were swept by Rutgers University in the round robin tournament held at Branchbrook Park May 6. Rutgers defeated the Newarkers 6-2, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2.

In the doubles, two matches were played. Murphy and Levison of Rutgers took the first match 6-2, 6-2. In the second, the Newarkers won 6-2, 6-2.

Newark Defeated by Montclair

On May 14, Newark Teachers defeated the Montclair Indians 6-2, 6-2. The Newarkers took the first match 6-2, 6-2. In the second match, Montclair gained 6-2, 6-2.

Newark's top man, Benisch, led off the first match and easily defeated Kestenbaum of Montclair, 6-2, 6-2. In the doubles, the Newarkers were victorious. Benisch and Levi­son managed to hold their men down to a minimum of one game out of two sets. This broke Humer's two year reign and by a series of fine shots and an excellent defense, beat him in three sets. This broke Humer's two year reign and by a series of fine shots and an excellent defense, beat him in three sets. This broke Humer's two year reign and by a series of fine shots and an excellent defense, beat him in three sets.

There's a story behind the fact that Dave Stein has changed his tennis and basketball identities. When he joined the Newarkers, he was a member of the tennis team and was given a nickname, Stein. But when he joined the basketball team, he was given another nickname, Stein. This led to a lot of confusion and the two teams had to make changes in their names.

Incidentally, we're sorry to see Ablet and Beitler leave the team. They were valuable assets to the team and their loss will be felt in the years to come.

We don't want to give the impression that we're giving up on the team. We're just saying that the Newarkers will be in a better position next year.

The schedule for the next season is now being made to include Wagner College, Fairview, Newark College of Engineering, Montclair, Maplewood Adult Club, and Union matches.

We suppose that you all know that Hank Bannow is next year's captain. Because you don't, here's some more information about him.

Hank Bannow is a senior at Newark State Teachers College and is known for his good sportsmanship and fair play. He is a member of the tennis team and is one of the mainstays of the new team.

We hope that Hank Bannow will be a success next season. We're looking forward to seeing him play ball.

The Robin Hood Archery Co.

The Robin Hood Archery Co. is one of the main sponsors of the archery tournament. They provide the equipment and are the main financial supporter.

We hope that the tournament will be a success and that we will see some good archery action.

Tennis Team Smashes Rutgers Pharmacy, Paterson Teachers

The Newark State Teachers College tennis team defeated Rutgers University 6-3 and split fifty-fifty. Benisch and Levi­son took the first match 6-2, 6-2. In the second, the Rutgers team won 6-2, 6-2.

The Newarkers then went into action with their tennis and basketball identities. When they played against Rutgers, they were given the nickname, Newarkers. But when they played against Montclair, they were given the nickname, Newarkers. This led to a lot of confusion and the two teams had to make changes in their names.

We hope that the Newarkers will be in a better position next year. We're just saying that the Newarkers will be in a better position next year.

The schedule for the next season is now being made to include Wagner College, Fairview, Newark College of Engineering, Montclair, Maplewood Adult Club, and Union matches.

We suppose that you all know that Hank Bannow is next year's captain. Because you don't, here's some more information about him.

Hank Bannow is a senior at Newark State Teachers College and is known for his good sportsmanship and fair play. He is a member of the tennis team and is one of the mainstays of the new team.

We hope that Hank Bannow will be a success next season. We're looking forward to seeing him play ball.