4-22-1960

The Reflector, Vol. 2, No. 18, April 22, 1960

Newark State College

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.kean.edu/reflector_1960s

Recommended Citation

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the Reflector at Kean Digital Learning Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in Reflector 1960s by an authorized administrator of Kean Digital Learning Commons. For more information, please contact learningcommons@kean.edu.
Today, April 22, Kappa Delta Pi will play host to the graduation of First Year Teachers’ Conference. They will welcome 400 students to their annual First Year Teachers’ Conference. The group will divide into smaller discussion groups to explore the topics mentioned above. Each group will have the assistance of a faculty reference consultant from Newark State College. In the evening, following the collective insights resulting from the afternoon discussions, Dr. Geraldine Baldwin, the group’s speaker, will speak on “Professionalism.”

Kappa Delta Pi extends a personal invitation to the faculty and student body of Newark State College to attend and participate in the First Year Teachers’ Conference this evening. It promises to be a very interesting and rewarding evening.

Albany Hosts ‘CUN Meet’

State members students of Seward Parker Council for the United Nations at Albany, New York, do not participate. They were participating in a model General Assembly held on the college campus. The Assembly was held on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, April 12-14.

During three days, students discussed the limitation of nuclear energy, the role of the International Court of Justice, the future status of Kashmir, imperialism and the Security Council. A Peace and Security Program, dealing with the world’s refugees, determination of territory to the Arab, and planning for the future territories for self-government, were brought to the attention of the members. The program also dealt with the collective security of the United Nations and the strengthening of the International Court of Justice. On all these questions, Newark State represented the Philippine, China and the United Nations’ respective representatives.

The nine students who participated in the Assembly were: seniors, Gail Magin and Geraldine Buchanan; juniors, Roxanne Tansey, Peter Barrett; seniors, Geraldine Baldwin, Judith Wickersham, soprano Carol Pfeiffer and Jim Hansel, art editor; sophomores, Carol Pfeiffer and Jim Hansel, art editor; juniors, Patricia Perretti, junior, Jessica Wickersham; and freshman Kenneth Furst and Sophie Stach.

Today is the last chance students may purchase student tickets to the Hi-Lo’s Carnival, for $1.50. Starting Monday the price will be raised to $2.00 per ticket, if you want to save money buy your tickets today before you go home.

Mr. James Day’s seventh period International Journalism class visited the Newark Evening News on Thursday afternoon, April 14.

As a part of the class visit there, the students saw reporters and editors working on their desks. They also went on a walking tour of the printing plant. More than 60 reporters and editorial writers and artists formed part of the Newark News take in the daily distribution route to the trucks of the newspaper. They saw pages being made up in blocks, and finally the type was compressed in the stiff paper matrix, and they formed into complete lead plates which were in the process of printing the paper.

The trip was one of many of the classes to take place during the semester.

The Kappa Delta Pi is a press release distributed in papers in the area by the college press representa­

Mr. James Day’s.

The following is a press release distributed in papers in the area by the college press representa­

Mr. James Day’s.

The following is a press release distributed in papers in the area by the college press representa­

Mr. James Day’s.

The following is a press release distributed in papers in the area by the college press representa­

Mr. James Day’s.

The following is a press release distributed in papers in the area by the college press representa­

Mr. James Day’s.

The following is a press release distributed in papers in the area by the college press representa­

Mr. James Day’s.

The following is a press release distributed in papers in the area by the college press representa­

Mr. James Day’s.

The following is a press release distributed in papers in the area by the college press representa­

Mr. James Day’s.

The following is a press release distributed in papers in the area by the college press representa­

Mr. James Day’s.

The following is a press release distributed in papers in the area by the college press representa­

Mr. James Day’s.

The following is a press release distributed in papers in the area by the college press representa­

Mr. James Day’s.

The following is a press release distributed in papers in the area by the college press representa­

Mr. James Day’s.

The following is a press release distributed in papers in the area by the college press representa­

Mr. James Day’s.

The following is a press release distributed in papers in the area by the college press representa­

Mr. James Day’s.

The following is a press release distributed in papers in the area by the college press representa­

Mr. James Day’s.

The following is a press release distributed in papers in the area by the college press representa­

Mr. James Day’s.

The following is a press release distributed in papers in the area by the college press representa­

Mr. James Day’s.

The following is a press release distributed in papers in the area by the college press representa­

Mr. James Day’s.

The following is a press release distributed in papers in the area by the college press representa­

Mr. James Day’s.

The following is a press release distributed in papers in the area by the college press representa­

Mr. James Day’s.
That Illinois Professor

There is an article in this week's paper about a professor at the University of Illinois who has been suspended because he advocated pre-marital sex relations.

The professor's right is valid not the point. The point is that no one has a right to abridge another's freedom of speech and thought. This was well born out in the recent decision on the film, "Lady Chatterley's Lover." The professor has the right to his opinions. He also has a right to express them publicly.

Because he chose to avail himself of this right, the professor has been severely condemned. To us, this seems completely inconsistent with American attitudes toward free speech. We hope that the administrators of the University reconsider their decision in this matter. It certainly deserves it.

Yours sincerely,

[Signature]

Weekly Calendar

Saturday, April 23
3 a.m.
Newman Club

Monday, April 24
3:40 p.m.
Baseball: NSC vs. Montclair
Montclair

3:40 p.m.
Baseball: NSC vs. NCE
Montclair

3:40 p.m.
Baseball: NSC vs. Rutgers

3:40 p.m.
Alpha Phi Delta
Faculty Dining Rm

3:40 p.m.
Signers I,F,S,C. (Election of Officers)
SR Meeting Room

1:30 p.m.
Achilles Club

Tuesday, April 25
1:30 p.m.
CCUN

3:30 p.m.
Sigma Delta Tau
Faculty Lounge

3:30 p.m.
All College Assembly
Meeting Room

Speaker: Mrs. Natalie Cole

Speaker: Miss Johnson and Mr. Aletter

3:30 p.m.
Omicron Sigma
SR Meeting Room

3:30 p.m.
SR Meeting Room

3:30 p.m.
Alpha Omega Supper

Wednesday, April 26
10:30 a.m.
Omnium

Amherst Sigma Pi

Gym

Little Theater

Thursday, April 27
3:30 p.m.
Baseball: NSC vs. Jersey City
City

                                                                   THE EASTER SHOW

The end of drama--religious or not--is just that. It is the last day for religious subject matter to fill this instructional obligation. Therefore, the decision of the Newman Club's Veronica's Veil does not accomplish that end.

One night he went in front of Sardi's and all of the celebrities got so mad all of a sudden. He's only one of those fat burping Milton Cross dogs that I don't even know to what extent I don't know. But as my only disappointments of the evening, sometimes fail to guess it gets when it plays for them. At the height of the song mounted on a pedestal in the minds of a large portion of our audience, a more sophisticated one may well be considered as a spectacle -- a tendency which is unfortunate because today's audience, a more sophisticated one has changed. I can't understand why "Night and Day" is so hilarious. Nobody cares that this is a wartime show. It succeeds in everything that Mr. Aletter does.

On Wednesday night, Dr. McCarty led the N.C. orchestra in a concert that displayed the musical talents of many students at the college. "This is a very much enriched program which everyone connected with college, for providing us with an enjoyable evening." It is entertainment of this kind that makes us proud to be students here. We hope that both organisations continue their fine work and that we get many more like them.

THE EASTER SHOW

Veronica's Veil

by Peter Barrett

A Thurber Carnival

James Thurber is a very wise man. In the opening sequences of his story, "Night and Day," however, he seems to be saying that he can't keep his audience's interest by counting its boobies before they are hatched. Having set the keynote for the evening's activity in the opening scene of "Night and Day", Mr. Aletter then proceeds to emphasize his points by making several show. The emphasis on Miriam was a wrong one, by Christ's time, not only the Church but the rich young men in the gospels, when he was getting away. Finally, I thought of the worst thing I could do it was only covering for his wife whom he suspected but who was innocent. I knew she was innocent. I was in love with Tom Ewell and Paul Ford, and the third victim, in some of the merriest maneuverings since Visit to a Small Planet by Stuart Oderman.

Members of the supporting cast include Mike Wilson, Alice Gottlieb, Dom Hall, and Jimmy Dunn. The one comment I feel forced to make that is unpleasant is this. I saw this play on a night when most of the house had been sold out to a theater party. A rather insidious idea that I have seen myself is that the quality of performance. But the spectators that night at Thurber Carnival are to be congratulated. I could not help wondering how it might have been if the troupe had been forced to hold the musical numbers together. Today, just anything won't go, and audiences demand something more of a musical. The more they work with it until it seems that the laughter really comes rolicking up from the belly when, once down in the cellar, Mr. FREDDY pulls a white glove from her blossoms, picks up a pipe wrench, and calms informs her husband that the basic thing to remember, about a murder is that there must be no fingerprints left on the scene.

Or take the glorious plight of Tom Ewell, and Paul Ford, somewhat better off in the case of Miss Johnson, who can buy two or three dozen gold bags for the former's wife. With her dominant personality (a word he avoided at any one expense), "Secret Life of Walter Mitty," with Tom Ewell playing the 20th century Tom, is a true hero and a doctor, and in all of which professions he distinguishes himself. The emphasis on the ANTA are joyous ones. Peggy Case, who has seen the original production (and in this case, I mean her dog) was popular, lends her special sort of lunacy to the proceedings, as does George Eldred, with his dog. It is a question what do it but was only covering for his wife whom he suspected but who was innocent. I knew she was innocent. I was in love with Tom Ewell and Paul Ford, and the third victim, in some of the merriest maneuverings since Visit to a Small Planet by Stuart Oderman.

Members of the supporting cast include Mike Wilson, Alice Gottlieb, Dom Hall, and Jimmy Dunn. The one comment I feel forced to make that is unpleasant is this. I saw this play on a night when most of the house had been sold out to a theater party. A rather insidious idea that I have seen myself is that the quality of performance. But the spectators that night at Thurber Carnival are to be congratulated. I could not help wondering how it might have been if the troupe had been forced to hold the musical numbers together. Today, just anything won't go, and audiences demand something more of a musical. The more they work with it until it seems that the laughter really comes rolicking up from the belly when, once down in the cellar, Mr. FREDDY pulls a white glove from her blossoms, picks up a pipe wrench, and calms informs her husband that the basic thing to remember, about a murder is that there must be no fingerprints left on the scene.

Or take the glorious plight of Tom Ewell, and Paul Ford, somewhat better off in the case of Miss Johnson, who can buy two or three dozen gold bags for the former's wife. With her dominant personality (a word he avoided at any one expense), "Secret Life of Walter Mitty," with Tom Ewell playing the 20th century Tom, is a true hero and a doctor, and in all of which professions he distinguishes himself. The emphasis on the ANTA are joyous ones. Peggy Case, who has seen the original production (and in this case, I mean her dog) was popular, lends her special sort of lunacy to the proceedings, as does George Eldred, with his dog. It is a question what do it but was only covering for his wife whom he suspected but who was innocent. I knew she was innocent. I was in love with Tom Ewell and Paul Ford, and the third victim, in some of the merriest maneuverings since Visit to a Small Planet by Stuart Oderman.

Members of the supporting cast include Mike Wilson, Alice Gottlieb, Dom Hall, and Jimmy Dunn. The one comment I feel forced to make that is unpleasant is this. I saw this play on a night when most of the house had been sold out to a theater party. A rather insidious idea that I have seen myself is that the quality of performance. But the spectators that night at Thurber Carnival are to be congratulated. I could not help wondering how it might have been if the troupe had been forced to hold the musical numbers together. Today, just anything won't go, and audiences demand something more of a musical. The more they work with it until it seems that the laughter really comes rolicking up from the belly when, once down in the cellar, Mr. FREDDY pulls a white glove from her blossoms, picks up a pipe wrench, and calms informs her husband that the basic thing to remember, about a murder is that there must be no fingerprints left on the scene.

Or take the glorious plight of Tom Ewell, and Paul Ford, somewhat better off in the case of Miss Johnson, who can buy two or three dozen gold bags for the former's wife. With her dominant personality (a word he avoided at any one expense), "Secret Life of Walter Mitty," with Tom Ewell playing the 20th century Tom, is a true hero and a doctor, and in all of which professions he distinguishes himself. The emphasis on the ANTA are joyous ones. Peggy Case, who has seen the original production (and in this case, I mean her dog) was popular, lends her special sort of lunacy to the proceedings, as does George Eldred, with his dog. It is a question what do it but was only covering for his wife whom he suspected but who was innocent. I knew she was innocent. I was in love with Tom Ewell and Paul Ford, and the third victim, in some of the merriest maneuverings since Visit to a Small Planet by Stuart Oderman.

Members of the supporting cast include Mike Wilson, Alice Gottlieb, Dom Hall, and Jimmy Dunn. The one comment I feel forced to make that is unpleasant is this. I saw this play on a night when most of the house had been sold out to a theater party. A rather insidious idea that I have seen myself is that the quality of performance. But the spectators that night at Thurber Carnival are to be congratulated. I could not help wondering how it might have been if the troupe had been forced to hold the musical numbers together. Today, just anything won't go, and audiences demand something more of a musical. The more they work with it until it seems that the laughter really comes rolicking up from the belly when, once down in the cellar, Mr. FREDDY pulls a white glove from her blossoms, picks up a pipe wrench, and calms informs her husband that the basic thing to remember, about a murder is that there must be no fingerprints left on the scene.
Kirpatrick’s Works On Display At Little Art Gallery

BOOKS

Greenwillow Reviewed

To put it bluntly at the very outset of this review, Greenwillow is the most charming book I have read in ten years. I say this without fear of correction, too, because, as Drewe Prescot of the Times says, the book is a “small masterpiece that arouses ardent enthusiasm in all who read it.”

Those of you who have been following the Broadway column know that the book has been made into a musical with Tony Perkins, with music and lyrics by Frank Loesser; I can think of no more suitable subject for a musical than this idyllic tale of love. The story takes place in the countryside of Greenwillow, a small hamlet that, “had been stood in the corner and forgotten,” perhaps centuries ago. It centers upon the young man, Gideon Briggs, first son of Amos Briggs, the latter given to periodic wanderings over the face of the globe. It is Gideon’s fate, as Amos’ first son, to become this same wanderer some day, “when his call comes,” and he knows it from his own family experience, since he feels anger towards his father for his periodic disappearances of Mrs. Briggs. Gideon resolves never to marry, so that the curse will end with him. It passes on to his first son. This resolution of his causes quite to a young girl named Dorrie, who is in love with him, and as the story goes on, Gideon professes his love of Dorrie.

In the meantime, the Briggs acquire a cow that is about to calve, and through the timeliness of the death of the old master who had leased it to them, and a few lies by Granma Briggs, the cow and her calf become theirs for keeps.

And all along the two millionaires of the town, Beverend Birdsong and the more austere Beveren Lapp spread the news of the calf’s birth. (It passes on to the next cow, etc.)

To understand what this book so highly must be read, I would advise a reading of the story through every paragraph of the book, even though it chronicles an early spring in the countryside, a spring to spring. The winter scene is brilliant with sunshine and snow, yet there is the promise of spring to spring. The winter scene is brilliant with sunshine and snow, yet there is the promise of spring to spring.

It is up to the reader to decipher the various motives for every action that is related. You must read it.

Sigma Beta Chi Clothing Drive Aids Children

Following a clothing drive, Sigma Beta Chi, University Alpha Delta, made a $127.99 pledge to the Newark State Women’s Recreation Association. M. Kay Casey will be the manager of this activity.

The singles tournament for both men and women will take place on a Wednesday afternoon between the hours of 3:30 and 6:00 p.m., date to be announced later. The tournament will be an elimination format with the winner of the best two out of three games. The singles tournament will be held on the tennis court in the Janet Memorial Home in Elizabethtown.

The sorority wishes to extend its appreciation to the Newark State Women’s Recreation Association in making this charter under a successful undertaking.

Ping Pong Tournament

Plans for Newark State’s annual Ping Pong Tournament, sponsored by the Hartford Table Tennis Company, are being formulated.

The singles tournament for both men and women will take place on a Wednesday afternoon between the hours of 3:30 and 6:00 p.m., date to be announced later. The tournament will be an elimination format with the winner of the best two out of three games. The singles tournament will be held on the tennis court in the Janet Memorial Home in Elizabethtown.

The tournament will be run by the Women’s Recreation Association. Mary Kay Casey will manage the volunteer and non-volunteer staff.

U. of Illinois Prof. Dismissed

(UPS) A University of Illinois professor, Leo Koch, was dismissed from academic duties on April 6 after a letter to the editor to the published in the student newspaper that accused the administration of acting improperly to correct alleged student harassment.

Henry said the case had been thoroughly reviewed and the executive committee of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences had decided it was correct to base his dismissal on the letter.

The.Features have been suspended, "A University of Illinois professor, Leo Koch, was dismissed from academic duties on April 6 after a letter to the editor to the published in the student newspaper that accused the administration of acting improperly to correct alleged student harassment.

Henry said the case had been thoroughly reviewed and the executive committee of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences had decided it was correct to base his dismissal on the letter.

The.Features have been suspended, "A University of Illinois professor, Leo Koch, was dismissed from academic duties on April 6 after a letter to the editor to the published in the student newspaper that accused the administration of acting improperly to correct alleged student harassment.

Henry said the case had been thoroughly reviewed and the executive committee of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences had decided it was correct to base his dismissal on the letter.

The.Features have been suspended, "A University of Illinois professor, Leo Koch, was dismissed from academic duties on April 6 after a letter to the editor to the published in the student newspaper that accused the administration of acting improperly to correct alleged student harassment.

Henry said the case had been thoroughly reviewed and the executive committee of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences had decided it was correct to base his dismissal on the letter.
Squires Win Intramural Championship

"Weight" a determining factor; 1/2 ton too much for Sophs

The Intramurals Baseball season came to a close last Wednesday with its most thrilling game of the season. The Senior team, coached by Gene Campbell and Joe Kaufman, scored a thrilling come from behind victory over Soph II by 38-35 to win the championship. The Seniors, who concluded their season with an 8-1 record, received the championship trophy by defeating the highly favored Junior squad, 44-38 in the upper class' championship game. The game was played after the Juniors had already defeated the Seniors by 37-30 in the final game of the regular season to secure a tie for the upper class championship. Each team concluded the regular season with a 6-1 record. In the upper class championship tilt, Andy Schioppa, who led the Senior scoring attack all season, tallied 16 points and Richie Marasco 12 to lead their scoring.

The Soph II team took the championship game by defeating Fresh III 47-36 in the lower class playoff. They concluded their season with a 6-3 log.

The game for the championship was a see-saw battle all the way. The Sophs opened the scoring and led throughout the first half of the game. Their lead at half-time was 18-13. But the second half saw a keyed up and inspired Senior team. They carried the best individual record into this game, and somehow didn't want to see it all go down the drain. They climaxcd their terrific comeback by taking a 32-28 lead with about 4:30 left in the game. But the Sophs were not to be outdone. They came back and tied the game at 33-33, before Hoffmans' basket put them into the lead again at 35-33 with about 1:45 remaining. Art Weinfeld then hit one of two foul attempts for the Seniors to cut the lead down to 35-34. Joe Kaufman, who has been an infield standout here at Newark State for three years, will be holding down the center-field position this season. He demonstrated a great amount of finesse and class in center-field against Jersey City last fall, as well as a strong throwing arm. Noted for his heavy stick, Joe has batted over .350 during all three of his seasons on the baseball team. Joe has shown his old form at the plate early this season, as he has hit four for seven in the first two games. He is a product of Newark's Central High School, where he was captain of the baseball squad during his senior year. Joe has demonstrated his ability under pressure, coming through with many "clutch" hits during his career for the Squires. A very good possibility for an All-Conference berth, we would like to wish Joe good luck for the coming season. Keep up the good work, Joey.

Joe's partner in the captaining will be a veteran basketball and baseball player for the Sophs. Bob Hoffman has accumulated four years of college experience as a left fielder. George is a left-handed sticker, and can provide for many clutch hits. Every team saw what a fine hitting team of Seniors Hoppy led with a .350 average. A fine defensive player. Hoppy will provide the fans with something to talk about with his stellar play in left field. He also tried his hand at pitching during his sophomore year, once again demonstrating his versatility on the diamond.

These two fine athletes will provide the Sophs with scoring punch that they need. Keep up the good work fellows, and we can expect a fine season from the Baseball Squires.

Baseball Schedule - 1960

April

11 Newark State at Trenton
13 Jersey City at Newark State
16 Newark Rogers at Camden
19 Paterson State at Camden
20 Montclair State at Newark State
22 Jersey City at Newark State
26 Montclair State at Trenton
29 Jersey City at Bloomfield College
30 Montclair State at Bloomfield College

May

3 Paterson State at Bloomfield College
5 Bloomfield College at Paterson State
10 Montclair State at Bloomfield College
12 Bloomfield College at Montclair State
14 Glassboro College at Montclair State
24 Montmouth College at Glassboro College

The Score:

Seniors G F Pts
Soph II G F Pts
Mistretta 2 1 5 Brown 4 1 9
Schioppa 4 2 10 Hoffman 6 1 10
Polimeni 3 1 7 Gega 3 0 6
Marasco 1 1 3 Veronkosky 2 0 4
Weinfeld 3 1 5 Malagian 2 0 2
Jackson 2 3 7

Totals 13 19 36 16 3 35

Half-time - Soph II 18, Seniors 13

Runner Up Sophs

Men: M. A. A. Meeting, Tuesday, April 21, 5:45 -- Student Center.

Champs; 1st row, Polimeni, Marasco, Weinfeld, Coach Kaufman. 2nd row, Mistretta, Jackon, Coach Campbell and Schioppa.

Girls: General Meeting for all Women April 27 at 1:30 in Gym A. Point system for WRA will be announced.

Girls: General Meeting for all Women April 27 at 1:30 -- Gym A. Point system for WRA will be announced.

Co-Captain George Hopkins

Kaufman, Hopkins

Diamond Co-Captains

Newark State's baseball team has chosen as their co-captains the seniors for four years of variety competition under their belts. Joe Kaufman, also basketball co-captain, Joe George Hopkins and Hoppy being at first. Newark State baseball team.

Newark State

Trenton

Newark State AB R H
Hudak 5 3 3
Marasco 4 1 0
Taylor 2 0 0

TOTALS 26 3 4

Newark State AB R H
Lucas 5 0 0
Mott 3 1 0
Carlson 2 0 0
Boyd 3 1 0
Morro 4 0 0

TOTALS 29 4 7

Point system for WRA will be announced.

1. Bloomfield College Home - 3:30
2. Paterson State Away - 3:30
3. Monmouth College Away - 3:30
4. Bloomfield College Away - 3:30
5. Bloomfield College Home - 3:30
6. Trenton State Home - 3:30
7. Jersey City Away - 3:30
8. Trenton State Away - 3:30

Girls: General Meeting for all Women April 27 at 1:30 in Gym A. Point system for WRA will be announced.

Squires as the Umps called the game because of a 5:45 curfew, job by freshman right hander Art Lundgren. Art was pitching fine first loss, 6-4 at Hillside Park. While the Squires dropped this tilt.

Girls: General Meeting for all Women April 27 at 1:30 in Gym A. Point system for WRA will be announced.

Squires dropped this tilt. Girls: General Meeting for all Women April 27 at 1:30 in Gym A. Point system for WRA will be announced.

Squires dropped this tilt. Girls: General Meeting for all Women April 27 at 1:30 in Gym A. Point system for WRA will be announced.

Squires dropped this tilt. Girls: General Meeting for all Women April 27 at 1:30 in Gym A. Point system for WRA will be announced.

Squires dropped this tilt. Girls: General Meeting for all Women April 27 at 1:30 in Gym A. Point system for WRA will be announced.

Squires dropped this tilt. Girls: General Meeting for all Women April 27 at 1:30 in Gym A. Point system for WRA will be announced.

Squires dropped this tilt. Girls: General Meeting for all Women April 27 at 1:30 in Gym A. Point system for WRA will be announced.

Squires dropped this tilt. Girls: General Meeting for all Women April 27 at 1:30 in Gym A. Point system for WRA will be announced.