Martin Scores Victory
Shiebler Secures Second Spot

Edward Martin was elected president of Newark State's Student Organization in last Wednesday's election. His opponent, Ken Keere, received a total of 502 votes, while Mr. Martin received 584 votes. The total number of voters was 888.

"I sincerely believe that the faith you have placed in me. I was quite pleased because of your support of my program," stated Mr. Martin.

"I feel that the results I have shared during our past three years as Newark State, for the class of 1963, are culminated in this election," said Mr. Martin.

"I intend to try to express my appreciation for her election to the position of class president," she stated. "However, she stated, "I hope to truly show my gratitude in the coming year's Sophomore Class. I am a member of the Junior Class because of the experience I have had. My position as a member of the Sophomore Class and vice-president of the Junior Class has given me the experience to be elected President of the Junior Class."

"I feel that the experience I have had at Newark State will have an Egyptian to Enter NSC

After several setbacks, ranging over a period of two years, Newark State will have an Egyptian student enrolled in next year's freshman class. He is Mr. Ayvazian of Cairo. He will be coming to the college through the efforts of the Foreign Student Committee, chaired by June Zucker.

Mr. Ayvazian applied for admission to Newark State two years ago, but became involved in financial and visa troubles. He had trouble leaving his country, and arrived at Newark State on his transportation to the states. He had planned to enter NSC last semester, but his visa arrived too late.

Mr. Ayvazian attended St. George College, near Cairo. He was admitted to the Dental School of Cairo University, but was unable to continue his studies, because he was not proficient in the Arabic language. He now speaks fluent American, French, Armenian, and English. In fact, he has taught English and mathematics at the Fox School in Cairo.

At the present time, he is working in Southern France and is expected to arrive in this country in the early fall.

Mr. Ayvazian will be the fourth foreign student to attend Newark State. The others are Mira Zuckor, Muszki, who had to return to South America; Zadkine and Milca Mayoraz and Miss Carmen Gersten, all of whom are presently attending the College.

The Foreign Student Committee had requested that any student who wished to be interested in providing information for aid to Chinese students contact the Committee. Further information can be obtained by contacting the Chairman, Mr. Ayvazian.

The number of votes cast in the election last week was encouraging. From a total enrollment of 1419, 379, or 26.7% voted. The sophomores and juniors showed the largest increase and heats which Ed Martin and the cancellation. The registration at the end of the year, 1962-1963, will be tough, and I hope that many students will support RId in his office.

Clothing Regulations
To the Editor:

Students are reminded that financial restrictions must be worn by all students, and that they are not to be worn with ill-fitting or trousers. The assembly line technique or the mass production fitting of cloth is not to be worn for any formal occasion. The students can be enjoying their meals and playing cards simultaneously. They are taking up the space that can be used by the "Hex Room". Our "Hex Room" does not permit food to be brought in - so, you ask - where can a person seek relaxation and enjoy a meal at the same time? Well meaning readers are urged not to suggest the cafeteria. There is nothing ever tried to find out of more than a few people.

Is this, too, to be ignored because it is for the student?

A Wiser Reform
To the Editor:

There is a movement about to be started to bring Newark State by introducing the honor system to our campus. It think it would be a much simpler thing to "reform" the faculty and staff of this law institution before going any further with this plan.

Also, in reading the daily at the campus with some form of judicial body, preferably the Student Council and the Student Personnel Committee and is now a campus-wide Student Court. Once more we urge Student Council to hold the office or corresponding secretary. This is why I feel Karen Goldfarb is best qualified to hold the office of corresponding secretary. Karen has an active interest in center activities. While attending high school, she again displayed initiative, experience, and ability. Angelo Castucci is characterized by these outstanding traits. He has had the opportunity of holding a position of responsibility. Thus, he has no choice but to do his job properly. His experience.

Dean Whitman Reports on Dorm
To the Editor:

The new Residence Hall will be occupied upon the aims and goals of Residence Hall living in mind. The new Residence Hall will be a cross-section from various curricula as residence halls which will be most advantageous in a planning of various types of dormitory government.

Dean Whitman also pointed out that the Residence Hall Committee Report is certainly a final report. By its very nature, this report is the result of an evolutionary step in the development of the college. Emphasis should be placed upon the aims and goals of Residence Hall living in mind. The Rising Of The Moon
by Alexander Nevsky
by Robert Treat

Sergei Eisenstein's first attempt at a sound motion picture comes off as an audio-visual "tour de force" which has yet, after 43 years of film romance, to be totally harnessed. Briefly, the story line is this: The Order of Teutonic Knights (under whose protection the Knights of Malta are placed) is making a campaign under the heavenly wing of Rome, set out to plunder the great cities of European Russia. In 13th century Russia these cities were not only very large, but also very powerful. Their rulers, instead of offering mere passive resistance, could offer little resistance to the German maulers. It is only the galloping horsemen of Pavlov's Cossacks that can slow off their fatal hybris and call the legendary Prince Alexander Khvostov to stand against the knights. This Nevsky does and the foe is roundly beaten.

During the making of the film Eisenstein was surrounded by the confusions of the Franklin Roosevelt era. It was all too familiar with the intellectual quirks of his earlier films. The technique is familiar: the long shots, the rhythm of motion pictures, the idea of technique. When projected at normal speed, the sequence of the rising sequence was repeated twice. Ten times a given shot was repeated. All props and a normal camera speed of 24 frames per second would have revealed their papier-maché lightness. For artistic purposes the shooting technique was chosen which created a new and more intense realism. Sergei Prokofiev with whom Eisenstein collaborated in the making of this, has had a film sound, composed a score which stands in no relation to the action. It is to my mind a music to make other composers at up and take notice.

The film is essentially a highly communicative affair. The natural image not only reflects but becomes the visual image on the screen. The narrat is the situation, rather, I feel a transition toward the unmasking or fascism. For the sake of hammering but from the growing intensity comes the technique. Nowhere is this more apparent than at the onset of the film of the battle scene against the Cossack, the Soviet leader, was wise in unmasking the menace of racism the Soviet leaders were wise in unmasking the menace of fascism. For artistic purposes the film should be shown with the original music. Nowhere is this more apparent than at the onset of the film. The growing menace of racism the Soviet leaders were wise in unmasking the menace of fascism. For artistic purposes the film should be shown with the original music.

The theme then is consummated by repeating the last frame of this, is a film for the masses rather than for the bourgeoisie. It is not so easily undone. The Eisenstein touch is still very notable, the Russian ideals of the past that Shook the World is missing but the genius of Eisenstein does and the roles roundly beaten.

Bernice P. Koffler, a 1960 graduate of New York University, works as a professional aide to Filipino instructors in the Philippines. Miss Koffler is a member of the Peace Corps Volunteer Corps. She is part of a 192 member Peace Corps contingent now aiding teachers in various parts of the Philippines. This number is expected to increase to over 300 by the beginning of the next school year.

The Philippines government requested this project because it feels its educational system, especially in rural areas, is developing rapidly if the country is to be able to keep up with the industrial growth which is important to this growth, was reported, because, although English is the language of instruction, Filipino is the language of instruction in all schools.

The volunteers, in addition to serving as models for spoken English, assist native teachers in learning the English language and in conducting English classes.

A former elementary school teacher, Smaragd L. Hirsh holds a B.A. in education from New York University.

After joining the Peace Corps, she received seven weeks of training at Pennsylvania State College, followed by a month of pre-service training at Los Banos, near Manila, before starting her assignment.

NASC Alumni Joins Peace Corps

The wall looks there, this... it doesn't look like Christmas night. The air we breathe is cold and tense, sleepless, and all around... we hear police; their snarling dogs, the wailing of siren. We know it's Christmas night.

Run down and found.

But wait! Isn't this the way it must be this Christmas night? Yes, and I begin to wonder with my wonted quickness and so is still...
The silent tears that the little children's infancy lance but my heart.

Fall not upon shaking hands, until... I comfort him.

Lest we leave this deserted door
We shall be cornered and die...

I know not whether the life with me
The fighting will live to...

But if need be, let it die, in the place where it was born.

I shall never see the other side...

I know not whether the life with me

I know not whether the life with me

Come to my arms, my little one...

My little one...

Ah! What care I!

The lights! The voices, little one...

Ah! What care I!

The lights! The voices, little one...

Ah! What care I!

The lights! The voices, little one...

Ah! What care I!

The lights! The voices, little one...

Ah! What care I!
Cagers Lose Four Players
Duffy, Blazovic, Marmo to Graduate

The Newark State College basketball team completed its 1961-62 season with a 15-6 record after a disastrous start, in which they won only one of their first eight games. The club began to turn things around when they won 12 of their last 17 games through a 13-13 record.

The loss of Art Slaffly, through graduation, and Tom Kuc due to an injury was made up by the spirited play of the team. Coach La Russa will again have his work cut out to produce future point leaders. His 15.8 point average was also higher than the team. John Valli fought for this area and also to coach and worked in the Sports Department of the Reflector this season. His nine point average this year was below par with a high 203. John Valli fought for the next highest Scorers for the cagers.

The Newark State College basketball team will again have his WEDNESDAY, MARCH 28 this year and will present a spirited play in the basketball game. Coach Blazovic and Carmine Marmo will have to be replaced. Silva, a three-year varsity player, had to leave school for personal reasons.

Bowlers Win Three Move Into Fifth Place by Tom Kuc

The strong Newark State Bowling team comes within two of another win over their last two in this past Sunday. This fifth straight undefeated week found the Scorers making short work of the Blacksburg, N.C. State Squad. These three decisive victories hope alive for the Newarkers to move into the top three of the eight college Eastern Inter-collegiate Bowling Conference.

The Scorers went into this three game set in a tie with Pennsylvania. Due to the strength of the league, Pennsylvania faced a good side, but sneaked in winning two of the three games. The one loss by Pennsylvania enabled John Valli to post his full possession of fifth place, and to move within closer of N.C.E. The Newarkers will face the Highlanders March 26th. The Scorers have their sights set on full possession of fourth place. This is the same Newark State team that had a difficult time in tenth place in an eleven team league. Pecino Scores

Last Sundays contest with Montclair State finished 3-31, in which the Scorers have had in recent weeks. The Scorers, with two big guns, Wes Danlow, and John Valli, had to work for their point game, only maintaining their average, the rest of the team, esperasing as strong offensives for part of lead off man Doug Pecina who never let the opposition within. In several cases, the Scorers have taken a lead over the team. Also giving the Scorers an extra lift this week was the return of Ron Blazovic who had competed for the last four weeks. In the second half of the game, the Newarker College will compete in the Jersey State College and tournament at Glassboro. Although they will be competing without the services of Doug Pecina, one regular, Devan Donavan, basketball coach for the Men's Athletic Association, announced the addition of the Galloping Hills Golf Club for this event.

Baseball Team Prepares For Opener

Junior I Seniors

Senior II Defeats Junior I 49-47

Junior I almost pulled up the last week in the Intramural Basketball league. They fought Senior II to the final score of 49-47. Mike Duffy, Senior II did not play the ball in the last minutes. They had two high scoring seniors playing. Both seniors played the ball they had displayed in their senior year. Their names are Chaffee and Frank Adam, this will be your big chance ever.

The Junior I blitzed all night and turned in a great performance. Chaffee played a fine floor game. Ed Houson scored 13 points and controlled the boards for the team.

Junior I, behind Roy Abrams and Paul Copeland, crushed Frosh I in a one-sided game of the season. Frosh I played a fine game but the seniors who are winning all the games. They are down to their last time in the season. Harold Silverman had 15 points for the winners.

In a battle for second place, Senior III defeated Sophomore I 86-44. Senior III was ahead 21-13 at the half, and looked as though they would win their third game of the season. Arnold Silverman had 15 points for the winners.
