College Plays Host to Association Workshop

For the first time, the State Division of the American Association of University Women held its annual workshop at the College on Saturday, September 27. Dr. Shea, general chairman, reports there were more than 200 present. Miss Rice was in charge of registration and dinner arrangements.

Dr. Dougall opened the workshop with a greeting to the Association. Mrs. Arthur J. White, State President, delivered a talk on the American Association of University Women's Place in the Community. The membership then broke up into more than ten study groups.

The Association is a national organization of college and university women from accredited schools. N.J.C., St. Elizabeth, Trenton State, and Montclair State are the colleges accepted from New Jersey. The State Association has 28 branches, each having its own chairmen for specific study fields. Dr. Shea is serving her second year as State Chairman of Children's Literature and Language Arts.

The Association is doing work in furthering the education of American and foreign women. It has given grants for study in universities and colleges to deserving students, financed research projects, and made it possible for women from abroad to study in the United States. As part of a rehabilitation program through its international branches, it is providing money for the setting up of professional women abroad.

The following is a letter received by Dr. Dougall from the State Division of the American Association of University Women:

Dear Dr. Dougall:

Unfortunately you were not able to be with us at our luncheon to hear the enthusiasm with which a resolution thanking you and the college for your hospitality, was greeted.

The State Division had a splendid meeting—twice as large as any workshop previously held—and no small measure of its success was due to the fine cooperation of your staff.

I wish especially to thank the girl students who so graciously and competently waited on tables. Will you please convey our appreciation to them?

Again our sincere thanks for all the courtesies extended to us, and for greeting us in person.

Cordially yours,

Mrs. Homer van B. Joy,
Corresponding Secretary

Faculty to Attend Institute

Teacher Education in International Reconstruction is the theme of the twentieth annual institute of the association of New Jersey State Teachers Colleges. This year it is being sponsored by the State Department of Education and the Association on Monday, October 13, and Tuesday, October 14, at Montclair. To enable the more than 300 teachers of New Jersey's six teacher colleges to attend the conference, the colleges will be closed for the two-day period.

Dr. Bosshart, State Commissioner of Education, will present the welcome address. General chairman of the Institute is Dr. Robert H. Morrison. Dr. Shea, serving her second term as president of the Association, is in the capacity of co-chairman. The guest speaker for Monday morning is yet to be announced. A series of section meetings of the different college departments will take place Monday afternoon. Dr. Calcia will act as chairman of the art forum, while Dr. Wilkins will head the group discussing education. Dinner and a social gathering will be on the calendar for that evening.

Dr. Howard Wilson of the Carnegie Foundation will address the general assembly on Tuesday morning. His topic will be the UNESCO. At an eleven o'clock symposium the assistant commissioners of education will speak to the group on the Institute's theme. Mayor Theodore L. McKeldin, mayor of Baltimore, will be the afternoon speaker.

John S. French Chapter of FTA Organized at Newark State

What promises to be an important link between present-day work as students and future work as teachers is the FTA (Future Teachers of America.) Last September the decision was made by several members of the Psychology Club to form a new organization which would approach the problems of educators from a practical viewpoint. Dr. Giligan is adviser for the group.

At the first meeting this semester, club members voted unanimously to call the club the John S. French Chapter of FTA. Dr. French, who taught at Newark State for fourteen years before his death in 1945, devoted many years to the problem of teacher organization. In a talk given before the group on October 3, Mr. Hutchinson pointed out that the ideals of the organization are very much in keeping with Dr. French's philosophy.

The first outside speaker scheduled for FTA is Mrs. John Cress, former high school teacher and member of the Executive Committee of the Essex County PTA, who will talk on What Parents Expect the School to do for the Child. Other prominent speakers will be invited to the College to discuss many problems vital to future educators. FTA meets during club hour on Friday.

Kappa Delta Pi Discusses Election of New Members

At the general membership meeting of Kappa Delta Pi on Tuesday, September 30, the approaching election of new members was discussed. Election procedures for the year were mapped out by the officers at a previous meeting.

Kappa Delta Pi is a national honorary educational society. New members are chosen from the list of those who have completed two years of study at the College in the top quarter of their class, as outlined by the national organization.

Four Members Added To College Faculty

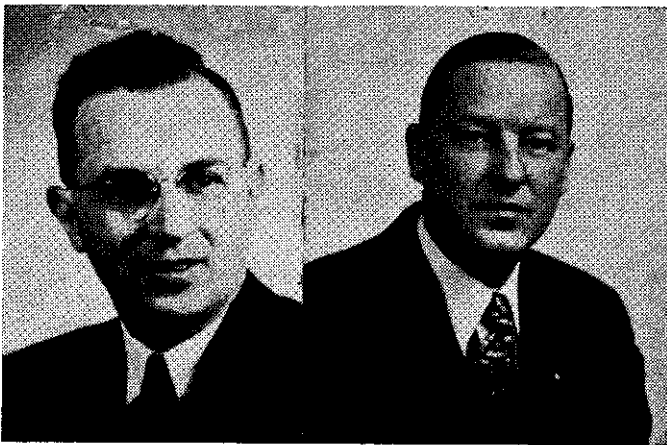

Because of increased student enrollment and the resignation of two faculty members, four new additions have been made to the College faculty. To them, the College extends a hearty welcome.

Miss Ruth E. Lippman, a graduate of Adelphi Academy and Vassar College, has been appointed Assistant Registrar. Mr. O'Brien has assumed responsibility of registration for both resident and part-time and extension students. Before coming to Newark State, Miss Lippman was assistant on admissions at Teachers College, Columbia University.

Following her graduation from Vassar, Miss Lippman entered radio and dramatic work, playing stock with the Forbes Theatre at Rockport, Massachusetts. During the war she served as a civilian employee in the Military Intelligence of the Army Signal Corps as cryptanalyst and translator. Her knowledge of French, Russian, and Italian enabled her to work in this capacity.

Anyone who has been in and out of the office more than once will have no difficulty recognizing Miss Lippman, who is never too busy to look up from her work and extend a cordial greeting.

An admirable example of a man who enjoys his work is Mr. Herman I. Lepp, new instructor in Science. Mr. Lepp

Mr. Lepp

has a bachelor of science degree from State Teachers College at Trenton, a master's from Columbia University, and is taking graduate courses at New York University.

Mr. Lepp's last teaching experience was in the Mount Vernon, N. Y., High School. High school and junior high school science departments in South Jersey had formerly claimed him. He does not, however, limit his extracurricular activities to physics, biology, or chemistry. Instead, he delves into all phases of movie photography, filming and editing, both indoor and outdoor pictures. He has a library of several thousand feet of movie film.

With his wife and children, a boy of four and a girl of one, Mr. Lepp now resides in Nutley, where we hope he remains a good long time.

Mr. Carl Edward Frankson succeeds Mr. John Hatch as chairman of the Industrial Arts curriculum. A graduate of Manketo, Minnesota, State Teachers College, and Colorado State College, he expects to complete requirements for his

Assembly to Feature Lyric Soprano

Eleanor Lansing, lyric soprano with inclinations toward dramatic coloratura, will present a program of music before the College assembly on Thursday, October 16. She will sing several songs in English, a group of German Lieder selections, an operatic piece, Vissi d'Arte from "Tosca," by Puccini, and in conclusion, a series of lighter English operettas.

In America, Miss Lansing has appeared in operettas in the Middle West, has sung over radio stations WNYC, WQXR, and WMCA, and has performed in concerts. Her last public appearance was in April when she appeared as soloist at the 100th Jubilee Concert (Spring) of the New York Liederkrantz Club. Lauritz Melchior sang at the January jubilee concert.

Musical education began for Miss Lansing at the age of six, when she received piano instruction. Several years later she was the winner of bronze and silver medals in New York. In addition to being a pianist and organist, she led orchestras in school, coached choirs and choruses, and taught piano.

In 1936 Miss Lansing began voice instruction, going abroad the following year to complete her studies in Vienna, Prague, and Holland. While in Holland, Professor Lothar Wallerstein, now of the Metropolitan Opera Company, trained her in dramatics.

Miss Lansing's first engagement was at the Klagenfurt State Opera, Austria, as the leading lyric soprano. In her first season she sang 78 times, in addition to guest appearances in Brunn, Graz, and Bratislava.

In the operas Magic Flute, Meistersinger, Freischutz, Wildschutz, Martha, Faust, Boheme, Figaro, and Lohengrin, Miss Lansing has played the major roles. She has also had the leads in operettas such as Merry Widow, Fledermaus, and Guiditta.

At present, Miss Lansing is continuing her voice studies in New York with Paul Althouse, formerly of the Metropolitan Opera Company, and is coaching occasionally with Paul Breisach, of the opera association.

Students to Hear Dr. Peterson Lecture on 'Great Teachers'

Dr. Houston Peterson, instructor in Philosophy at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, will talk before the College assembly on Thursday, November 6. Great Teachers, the title of his most recent book, will be his topic.

Great Teachers is a collection of first-hand accounts of teachers written by their former students. The book is listed in the June 1947 Newsletter of the Council on Cooperation in Teacher Education. It is soon to be translated into German, Japanese, and Korean.

In writing about the importance of the teacher, Mr. Peterson says, "A murderer takes life, but his deed stops there; a teacher affects eternity; he can never tell where his influence stops."

Earl Schenck Miers, in The Ivy Years, makes frequent reference to Dr. Peterson, or "Pete," as he is affectionately called by the students at Rutgers. Describing the instructor, Mr. Miers says, "The man sparkled with charm and made his learning more glamorous than a Hollywood starlet's curves."

New Faculty

Ph.D. next summer at Ohio State University. Last year Mr. Frankson was head of the Industrial Arts Department in the State Teachers College in Gorham, Maine. His previous employment included college and university work at the Ball State Teachers College, Muncie, Indiana, and the Ohio State University at Columbus, Ohio. During the war Mr. Frankson served as a training officer in the U. S. Naval Reserve.

Chatham is now home for Mr. Frankson and his family. His son is three years old, and if the demand for Industrial Arts teachers continues, we'll be glad to welcome him, too, to Newark State.

Miss Mary Baker has joined the faculty as an instructor in the Fine Arts department. She is a graduate of Skidmore College, obtaining her master's degree in Fine Arts from Teachers College, Columbia University. Studying with the Modern Art Group in New Hope, New Jersey, the Colorado Springs Fine Arts Center, and the Vineyard Painting Group at Edgartown, Massachusetts, furthered her training.

For the past eight years, Miss Baker has been Supervisor of Art in the grades at Summit. Previous to that she was Supervisor of Art in the Baldwin, New York, public schools. We welcome Miss Baker to our faculty.

Sophomores Honor Freshmen at Party

For the first time in one week, freshman women donned their cosmetics and freshman men removed their green bow ties on Friday, October 3. The occasion was the gala party given by the sophomore class to conclude the period of hazing.

Julius Provine, president of the sophomore class, was master of ceremonies. Those providing entertainment were Joan McPhillips, Dorothy Gross, Richard Bessett, Norma Riley, Diana Levin, Rosalie Mazzeo, Rosita MacPhee, Mary Verees, and Esther Hochmuth.

Chairman of the party was Joanne Mau. The entertainment committee was composed of Eunice Plunkett, Norma Riley, Joan McPhillips, Janet Snyder, Joan DeGryse, Eileen Devine, and Florence Regal. Margaret Burrows, Joseph Anderson, and Marie Casciano comprised the refreshment committee.

Freshmen Follow Hazing Regulations

Now that it's all over the freshmen can look back and say, "Gee, it was fun while it lasted." (Or can they?) At any rate, freshman hazing lasted from Monday to Friday, September 29 to October 3. Regulations set up by the sophomore class were as follows:

1. Fellows and girls must wear caps throughout the week.
2. All must wear name plates.
3. Girls are not allowed to wear make-up for the week.
4. Boys are to wear bright green bow ties.
5. All freshmen must have a plentiful supply of gum, candy and cigarettes.
6. At noontime all freshmen must eat in the little side of the cafeteria, and they must square their meals.
7. After lunch they must report to the gymnasium for further instructions.

Nu Lambda Kappa Plans Poetry Project

Nu Lambda Kappa will release in the Spring its book of poetry written by members of the honorary literary organization. The following poems are among those which will appear in the book.

Exchange

If I were you and you were me
What a difference there would be
I'd look at you—You now are me
And all my faults I'd plainly see
You'd look at me with wondering eyes
How strange you were you'd realize
I would but give the world to see
Myself as others see me.

Dorothy Gross

There is a wooden station,
There's a pompous general store,
And a roaring highway down, into our little town.

In autumn it is golden,
In summer it is green,
Still age has stamped no mark in every little town.

It boasts of no enchantment,
It's there for all to see,
In every white-washed steeple, in every little town.

They are by-passed by the future,
Hidden in all yesterday,
For time has been so easy, in every little town.

Sororities to Initiate Rushing Revisions

At a meeting with Dr. Whiteman on Tuesday, September 23, the seven sororities of the College agreed to try a new system of pledging this year. The major change is that the organizations may bid only those who are on the sophomore level or higher. No freshmen may be asked to join any group. Advanced credit students may be invited into a sorority when they enter college.

Another change to be tried this year concerns the teas sponsored by the sororities. Each group will have but one affair. A student who receives an invitation to attend a sorority's tea is being asked to become a member. She may go to as many teas as she receives invitations for, and then decide which group she would like to join. Parties have been scheduled from Tuesday, October 21, to Sunday, November 2. Sorority invitations will be sent out on Tuesday, October 14. Acceptances must be in the sorority mailboxes by Friday, November 7.
