Fee Retained At Colorado

The total amount of the University of Colorado's required student fee has not been changed for the current year, but the fee allocation has been made in the distinctive form of a sliding scale. The fee remains at $96 per semester which is paid by the student-faculty finance board.

The greatest change-involves the intramural fund. During the 1961-62 school year, intramural funds were given on a direct allocation, but requests for funds were now made by the student-faculty finance board for the intramural fund. Thirty-eight cents per student per semester went to women's intramurals; the men received $29.52. This year, intramural funds are received at a direct allocation of $64.70 per student: 98 cents for intramural funds for men, and 30 cents for women's intramurals. An estimated $3,100 will be allocated for intramurals.

The University Memorial Center will again receive an $18 allocation, giving it an estimated total of $27,700. The Student Health Center will get $19,250 from the $18 allocation.

The Board of Publications, responsible for the Colorado Daily, the campus paper, has been reorganized, and the poetry publication will receive $1,44 from each student. This amount was formerly allocated directly to the Colorado Daily. The Board will receive an estimated $35,000 from student fees.

Student Faculty Discussion

Students will gather for dinner this evening, Wednesday, November 28, to discuss the leadership of the future in the Student National Congress of College Student Government. Faculty members have also been invited to participate in the program.

Freshman Values Stressed by Raths

Freshman Values Stressed by Raths

Fee Retained At Colorado

The total amount of the University of Colorado's required student fee has not been changed for the current year, but the fee allocation has been made in the distinctive form of a sliding scale. The fee remains at $96 per semester which is paid by the student-faculty finance board.

The greatest change-involves the intramural fund. During the 1961-62 school year, intramural funds were given on a direct allocation, but requests for funds were now made by the student-faculty finance board for the intramural fund. Thirty-eight cents per student per semester went to women's intramurals; the men received $29.52. This year, intramural funds are received at a direct allocation of $64.70 per student: 98 cents for intramural funds for men, and 30 cents for women's intramurals. An estimated $3,100 will be allocated for intramurals.

The University Memorial Center will again receive an $18 allocation, giving it an estimated total of $27,700. The Student Health Center will get $19,250 from the $18 allocation.

The Board of Publications, responsible for the Colorado Daily, the campus paper, has been reorganized, and the poetry publication will receive $1,44 from each student. This amount was formerly allocated directly to the Colorado Daily. The Board will receive an estimated $35,000 from student fees.

Student Faculty Discussion

Students will gather for dinner this evening, Wednesday, November 28, to discuss the leadership of the future in the Student National Congress of College Student Government. Faculty members have also been invited to participate in the program.

Fee Retained At Colorado

The total amount of the University of Colorado's required student fee has not been changed for the current year, but the fee allocation has been made in the distinctive form of a sliding scale. The fee remains at $96 per semester which is paid by the student-faculty finance board.

The greatest change-involves the intramural fund. During the 1961-62 school year, intramural funds were given on a direct allocation, but requests for funds were now made by the student-faculty finance board for the intramural fund. Thirty-eight cents per student per semester went to women's intramurals; the men received $29.52. This year, intramural funds are received at a direct allocation of $64.70 per student: 98 cents for intramural funds for men, and 30 cents for women's intramurals. An estimated $3,100 will be allocated for intramurals.

The University Memorial Center will again receive an $18 allocation, giving it an estimated total of $27,700. The Student Health Center will get $19,250 from the $18 allocation.

The Board of Publications, responsible for the Colorado Daily, the campus paper, has been reorganized, and the poetry publication will receive $1,44 from each student. This amount was formerly allocated directly to the Colorado Daily. The Board will receive an estimated $35,000 from student fees.

Student Faculty Discussion

Students will gather for dinner this evening, Wednesday, November 28, to discuss the leadership of the future in the Student National Congress of College Student Government. Faculty members have also been invited to participate in the program.

Fee Retained At Colorado

The total amount of the University of Colorado's required student fee has not been changed for the current year, but the fee allocation has been made in the distinctive form of a sliding scale. The fee remains at $96 per semester which is paid by the student-faculty finance board.

The greatest change-involves the intramural fund. During the 1961-62 school year, intramural funds were given on a direct allocation, but requests for funds were now made by the student-faculty finance board for the intramural fund. Thirty-eight cents per student per semester went to women's intramurals; the men received $29.52. This year, intramural funds are received at a direct allocation of $64.70 per student: 98 cents for intramural funds for men, and 30 cents for women's intramurals. An estimated $3,100 will be allocated for intramurals.

The University Memorial Center will again receive an $18 allocation, giving it an estimated total of $27,700. The Student Health Center will get $19,250 from the $18 allocation.

The Board of Publications, responsible for the Colorado Daily, the campus paper, has been reorganized, and the poetry publication will receive $1,44 from each student. This amount was formerly allocated directly to the Colorado Daily. The Board will receive an estimated $35,000 from student fees.

Student Faculty Discussion

Students will gather for dinner this evening, Wednesday, November 28, to discuss the leadership of the future in the Student National Congress of College Student Government. Faculty members have also been invited to participate in the program.

Fee Retained At Colorado

The total amount of the University of Colorado's required student fee has not been changed for the current year, but the fee allocation has been made in the distinctive form of a sliding scale. The fee remains at $96 per semester which is paid by the student-faculty finance board.

The greatest change-involves the intramural fund. During the 1961-62 school year, intramural funds were given on a direct allocation, but requests for funds were now made by the student-faculty finance board for the intramural fund. Thirty-eight cents per student per semester went to women's intramurals; the men received $29.52. This year, intramural funds are received at a direct allocation of $64.70 per student: 98 cents for intramural funds for men, and 30 cents for women's intramurals. An estimated $3,100 will be allocated for intramurals.

The University Memorial Center will again receive an $18 allocation, giving it an estimated total of $27,700. The Student Health Center will get $19,250 from the $18 allocation.

The Board of Publications, responsible for the Colorado Daily, the campus paper, has been reorganized, and the poetry publication will receive $1,44 from each student. This amount was formerly allocated directly to the Colorado Daily. The Board will receive an estimated $35,000 from student fees.

Student Faculty Discussion

Students will gather for dinner this evening, Wednesday, November 28, to discuss the leadership of the future in the Student National Congress of College Student Government. Faculty members have also been invited to participate in the program.

Fee Retained At Colorado

The total amount of the University of Colorado's required student fee has not been changed for the current year, but the fee allocation has been made in the distinctive form of a sliding scale. The fee remains at $96 per semester which is paid by the student-faculty finance board.

The greatest change-involves the intramural fund. During the 1961-62 school year, intramural funds were given on a direct allocation, but requests for funds were now made by the student-faculty finance board for the intramural fund. Thirty-eight cents per student per semester went to women's intramurals; the men received $29.52. This year, intramural funds are received at a direct allocation of $64.70 per student: 98 cents for intramural funds for men, and 30 cents for women's intramurals. An estimated $3,100 will be allocated for intramurals.

The University Memorial Center will again receive an $18 allocation, giving it an estimated total of $27,700. The Student Health Center will get $19,250 from the $18 allocation.

The Board of Publications, responsible for the Colorado Daily, the campus paper, has been reorganized, and the poetry publication will receive $1,44 from each student. This amount was formerly allocated directly to the Colorado Daily. The Board will receive an estimated $35,000 from student fees.

Student Faculty Discussion

Students will gather for dinner this evening, Wednesday, November 28, to discuss the leadership of the future in the Student National Congress of College Student Government. Faculty members have also been invited to participate in the program.

Fee Retained At Colorado

The total amount of the University of Colorado's required student fee has not been changed for the current year, but the fee allocation has been made in the distinctive form of a sliding scale. The fee remains at $96 per semester which is paid by the student-faculty finance board.

The greatest change-involves the intramural fund. During the 1961-62 school year, intramural funds were given on a direct allocation, but requests for funds were now made by the student-faculty finance board for the intramural fund. Thirty-eight cents per student per semester went to women's intramurals; the men received $29.52. This year, intramural funds are received at a direct allocation of $64.70 per student: 98 cents for intramural funds for men, and 30 cents for women's intramurals. An estimated $3,100 will be allocated for intramurals.

The University Memorial Center will again receive an $18 allocation, giving it an estimated total of $27,700. The Student Health Center will get $19,250 from the $18 allocation.

The Board of Publications, responsible for the Colorado Daily, the campus paper, has been reorganized, and the poetry publication will receive $1,44 from each student. This amount was formerly allocated directly to the Colorado Daily. The Board will receive an estimated $35,000 from student fees.

Student Faculty Discussion

Students will gather for dinner this evening, Wednesday, November 28, to discuss the leadership of the future in the Student National Congress of College Student Government. Faculty members have also been invited to participate in the program.
Sorority-Fraternity Hazing

Hazing is a tradition which should be continued, but much of it is silly child's play. Not only is it uninformative at Newark State, but it is destructive and messy.

A more sensible approach to hazing was taken by the brothers of Sigma Beta Tau. Their initiation of a "keepers of the campus sororities as for the custodial

Each other with mixed with the water on the floor to three times before they removed the mess. But much of it is silly child's play. Not only is it uninformative at Newark State, but it is destructive and messy.

The goal of the American school system is the education of all to the full extent of their capabilities. For this reason, educational research is conducted constantly to find to better ways to educate. Special programs have been established for the "slower learner" as well as the physically and mentally handicapped. These special programs exist in addition to, and as an integral part of, the general curriculum geared to the "average" student. Despite such efforts, however, one segment of the school population continues to be neglected. This is the gifted child.

For too long, educators have chosen to ignore the bright child. They seem to have decided that he does not need special attention. They are wrong. The bright child needs special attention.

Devising a curriculum for the gifted presents problems not quickly or easily solved. Enrichment programs, for example, require creativity on the part of the teacher, for enrichment is not synonymous with acceleration, words too long neglected when dealing with the exceptionally intelligent.

The gifted child of today is the astrophysicist or new philosopher of the 21st century. He has within him the potential for greatness. Whether he ever lives up to that potential depends largely upon the education he receives now.

Unforeseeable circumstances have made it necessary for the Theatre Guild to cancel its Wednesday performance of Elmer Rice's "The Adding Machine." Instead, the play will open on Thursday,November 29, at 7:30 p.m., and run through Saturday.

The cheerleaders rise at 8:15 and all persons are requested to be present to help start the cause of the subtitle and mood of the drama, no one will be admitted after 9:15.

The seven act drama was first presented Wednesday night performance of Elmer Rice's "The Adding Machine." Instead, the play will open on Thursday, November 29, at 7:30 p.m., and run through Saturday.

The cheerleaders rise at 8:15 and all persons are requested to be present to help start the cause of the subtitle and mood of the drama, no one will be admitted after 9:15.

The seven act drama was first presented Wednesday night performance of Elmer Rice's "The Adding Machine." Instead, the play will open on Thursday, November 29, at 7:30 p.m., and run through Saturday.

The cheerleaders rise at 8:15 and all persons are requested to be present to help start the cause of the subtitle and mood of the drama, no one will be admitted after 9:15.

The seven act drama was first presented Wednesday night performance of Elmer Rice's "The Adding Machine." Instead, the play will open on Thursday, November 29, at 7:30 p.m., and run through Saturday.

The cheerleaders rise at 8:15 and all persons are requested to be present to help start the cause of the subtitle and mood of the drama, no one will be admitted after 9:15.

The seven act drama was first presented Wednesday night performance of Elmer Rice's "The Adding Machine." Instead, the play will open on Thursday, November 29, at 7:30 p.m., and run through Saturday.

The cheerleaders rise at 8:15 and all persons are requested to be present to help start the cause of the subtitle and mood of the drama, no one will be admitted after 9:15.

The seven act drama was first presented Wednesday night performance of Elmer Rice's "The Adding Machine." Instead, the play will open on Thursday, November 29, at 7:30 p.m., and run through Saturday.

The cheerleaders rise at 8:15 and all persons are requested to be present to help start the cause of the subtitle and mood of the drama, no one will be admitted after 9:15.

The seven act drama was first presented Wednesday night performance of Elmer Rice's "The Adding Machine." Instead, the play will open on Thursday, November 29, at 7:30 p.m., and run through Saturday.

The cheerleaders rise at 8:15 and all persons are requested to be present to help start the cause of the subtitle and mood of the drama, no one will be admitted after 9:15.

The seven act drama was first presented Wednesday night performance of Elmer Rice's "The Adding Machine." Instead, the play will open on Thursday, November 29, at 7:30 p.m., and run through Saturday.

The cheerleaders rise at 8:15 and all persons are requested to be present to help start the cause of the subtitle and mood of the drama, no one will be admitted after 9:15.

The seven act drama was first presented Wednesday night performance of Elmer Rice's "The Adding Machine." Instead, the play will open on Thursday, November 29, at 7:30 p.m., and run through Saturday.

The cheerleaders rise at 8:15 and all persons are requested to be present to help start the cause of the subtitle and mood of the drama, no one will be admitted after 9:15.

The seven act drama was first presented Wednesday night performance of Elmer Rice's "The Adding Machine." Instead, the play will open on Thursday, November 29, at 7:30 p.m., and run through Saturday.

The cheerleaders rise at 8:15 and all persons are requested to be present to help start the cause of the subtitle and mood of the drama, no one will be admitted after 9:15.

The seven act drama was first presented Wednesday night performance of Elmer Rice's "The Adding Machine." Instead, the play will open on Thursday, November 29, at 7:30 p.m., and run through Saturday.

The cheerleaders rise at 8:15 and all persons are requested to be present to help start the cause of the subtitle and mood of the drama, no one will be admitted after 9:15.

The seven act drama was first presented Wednesday night performance of Elmer Rice's "The Adding Machine." Instead, the play will open on Thursday, November 29, at 7:30 p.m., and run through Saturday.

The cheerleaders rise at 8:15 and all persons are requested to be present to help start the cause of the subtitle and mood of the drama, no one will be admitted after 9:15.

The seven act drama was first presented Wednesday night performance of Elmer Rice's "The Adding Machine." Instead, the play will open on Thursday, November 29, at 7:30 p.m., and run through Saturday.

The cheerleaders rise at 8:15 and all persons are requested to be present to help start the cause of the subtitle and mood of the drama, no one will be admitted after 9:15.
Summer Tour of Europe Available for Credit

As New Jersey State Chairman of the Collegiate Council for the United Nations, I was an invited participant in the biennial convention of the American Association for the United Nations held in the Hotel Roosevelt, New York City, from November 16 to November 18.

A special tribute to Mrs. Priscilla F. Montgomery, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the AAUN, for her leadership and dedication to the purpose of the Association. The annual convention of the United Nations opened the first session of the biennial institute sponsored by the Association and culminated in a discussion of the problems and challenges facing the United Nations.

The convention delegates met in ten business sessions to elect officers for the Association and to decide overall policy for the AAUN for the next two years. The AAUN is the only national organization in the United States in the world body. It has over 100 local chapters in 250 chapters throughout the country.

The 350 convention delegates coming from more than 40 states met at the American Institute of Graphic Arts, and World Straight at Thant on Saturday afternoon.

The United Nations was to conduct a session at the United Nations headquarters. The Secretary-General spoke of the role of U.N. educational, economic, military, and political institutions.

The public assesses the accomplishment of the UN in the political aspect, just much as the smaller nation in the world of trust, cooperation, and survival for the human society to keep his words in mind is now.

The world, at present, is expressed in its function as the UN is at stake.

For a Pleiscite

With aggression in Kashmir, Hyderabad, and Goa, India is facing the challenge of a new medicine. With successful Red on the march, a battle against the Philippines and Assam, Nehru has been forced to request help from the United Nations.

Although in most respects, ex- porting from the Red Chinese is more important than Japan and she has been a pro-convict, she is also an important nation and a victim of Communist imperialism. As a result of her predicament and her defeat, she has been forced to request help from an important nation and a victim of Communist imperialism.

The world, at present, is expressing an interest in the possibility of a thermo-nuclear holocaust. The nature of this problem will be more acutely felt and its seriousness: some will solve the problem; others will not; but, problems will persist. The leaders of thought and action consider the sources and solutions of a thermo-nuclear holocaust.

There is a feeling that it is a serious issue and a condition of the UN. It is a new social structure for society.
Too Cold For "Love"?
by Arnold Silverman

Although tennis is an extremely popular sport, it is not quite popular enough for players to venture outside during the cold winter months. Most of the tennis enthusiasts take their rackets in hand and head for warmer climates. This would certainly seem to be without exception, but as usually happens, there are always a few staunch heroes who, shivering in their jockeys shorts, try and make a go of it.

At the Town Tennis Club, at Sutton Place in New York City, the tennis nets are out ten months a year. What may seem a bit abnormal has been installed two of which have lighting. Because of the drawing power of Wood's name, many tennis greats, past and present rushed to become members. Mayor Wagner and Gene Tunney joined the board of governors.

The club, which is entered through an apartment house, has a spacious, glass-enclosed lounge; a terrace, bar, kitchen, and lockerrooms. The club never lacks for want of spectators for there are always plenty of people watching near-by apartment buildings. Many spectators have complemented Wood on the exciting tennis. Others, though, have complained that the lights kept them awake at night.

The membership of the club is limited to about 250 people. About nine years ago Wood decided to try and develop the status of tennis locally. Wood's idea was to find a place in the city where tennis could be enjoyed in a club atmosphere. The present roof-top site is what he found. Four all-weather courts have been installed of two which are located on top of the Doelger brewery and garage on East 56th and 57th Streets.

The Town Tennis Club was founded by Sidney B. Wood, Jr., a former great in the tennis world. About nine years ago Wood decided to try and develop the status of tennis locally. Wood's idea was to find a place in the city where tennis could be enjoyed in a club atmosphere. The present roof-top site is what he found. Four all-weather courts have been installed of two which are located on top of the Doelger brewery and garage on East 56th and 57th Streets.

The Town Tennis Club was founded by Sidney B. Wood, Jr., a former great in the tennis world. About nine years ago Wood decided to try and develop the status of tennis locally. Wood's idea was to find a place in the city where tennis could be enjoyed in a club atmosphere. The present roof-top site is what he found. Four all-weather courts have been installed of two which are located on top of the Doelger brewery and garage on East 56th and 57th Streets.

The Town Tennis Club was founded by Sidney B. Wood, Jr., a former great in the tennis world. About nine years ago Wood decided to try and develop the status of tennis locally. Wood's idea was to find a place in the city where tennis could be enjoyed in a club atmosphere. The present roof-top site is what he found. Four all-weather courts have been installed of two which are located on top of the Doelger brewery and garage on East 56th and 57th Streets.

The Town Tennis Club was founded by Sidney B. Wood, Jr., a former great in the tennis world. About nine years ago Wood decided to try and develop the status of tennis locally. Wood's idea was to find a place in the city where tennis could be enjoyed in a club atmosphere. The present roof-top site is what he found. Four all-weather courts have been installed of two which are located on top of the Doelger brewery and garage on East 56th and 57th Streets.

The Town Tennis Club was founded by Sidney B. Wood, Jr., a former great in the tennis world. About nine years ago Wood decided to try and develop the status of tennis locally. Wood's idea was to find a place in the city where tennis could be enjoyed in a club atmosphere. The present roof-top site is what he found. Four all-weather courts have been installed of two which are located on top of the Doelger brewery and garage on East 56th and 57th Streets.

The Town Tennis Club was founded by Sidney B. Wood, Jr., a former great in the tennis world. About nine years ago Wood decided to try and develop the status of tennis locally. Wood's idea was to find a place in the city where tennis could be enjoyed in a club atmosphere. The present roof-top site is what he found. Four all-weather courts have been installed of two which are located on top of the Doelger brewery and garage on East 56th and 57th Streets.

The Town Tennis Club was founded by Sidney B. Wood, Jr., a former great in the tennis world. About nine years ago Wood decided to try and develop the status of tennis locally. Wood's idea was to find a place in the city where tennis could be enjoyed in a club atmosphere. The present roof-top site is what he found. Four all-weather courts have been installed of two which are located on top of the Doelger brewery and garage on East 56th and 57th Streets.

The Town Tennis Club was founded by Sidney B. Wood, Jr., a former great in the tennis world. About nine years ago Wood decided to try and develop the status of tennis locally. Wood's idea was to find a place in the city where tennis could be enjoyed in a club atmosphere. The present roof-top site is what he found. Four all-weather courts have been installed of two which are located on top of the Doelger brewery and garage on East 56th and 57th Streets.

The Town Tennis Club was founded by Sidney B. Wood, Jr., a former great in the tennis world. About nine years ago Wood decided to try and develop the status of tennis locally. Wood's idea was to find a place in the city where tennis could be enjoyed in a club atmosphere. The present roof-top site is what he found. Four all-weather courts have been installed of two which are located on top of the Doelger brewery and garage on East 56th and 57th Streets.

The Town Tennis Club was founded by Sidney B. Wood, Jr., a former great in the tennis world. About nine years ago Wood decided to try and develop the status of tennis locally. Wood's idea was to find a place in the city where tennis could be enjoyed in a club atmosphere. The present roof-top site is what he found. Four all-weather courts have been installed of two which are located on top of the Doelger brewery and garage on East 56th and 57th Streets.

The Town Tennis Club was founded by Sidney B. Wood, Jr., a former great in the tennis world. About nine years ago Wood decided to try and develop the status of tennis locally. Wood's idea was to find a place in the city where tennis could be enjoyed in a club atmosphere. The present roof-top site is what he found. Four all-weather courts have been installed of two which are located on top of the Doelger brewery and garage on East 56th and 57th Streets.

The Town Tennis Club was founded by Sidney B. Wood, Jr., a former great in the tennis world. About nine years ago Wood decided to try and develop the status of tennis locally. Wood's idea was to find a place in the city where tennis could be enjoyed in a club atmosphere. The present roof-top site is what he found. Four all-weather courts have been installed of two which are located on top of the Doelger brewery and garage on East 56th and 57th Streets.

The Town Tennis Club was founded by Sidney B. Wood, Jr., a former great in the tennis world. About nine years ago Wood decided to try and develop the status of tennis locally. Wood's idea was to find a place in the city where tennis could be enjoyed in a club atmosphere. The present roof-top site is what he found. Four all-weather courts have been installed of two which are located on top of the Doelger brewery and garage on East 56th and 57th Streets.

The Town Tennis Club was founded by Sidney B. Wood, Jr., a former great in the tennis world. About nine years ago Wood decided to try and develop the status of tennis locally. Wood's idea was to find a place in the city where tennis could be enjoyed in a club atmosphere. The present roof-top site is what he found. Four all-weather courts have been installed of two which are located on top of the Doelger brewery and garage on East 56th and 57th Streets.

The Town Tennis Club was founded by Sidney B. Wood, Jr., a former great in the tennis world. About nine years ago Wood decided to try and develop the status of tennis locally. Wood's idea was to find a place in the city where tennis could be enjoyed in a club atmosphere. The present roof-top site is what he found. Four all-weather courts have been installed of two which are located on top of the Doelger brewery and garage on East 56th and 57th Streets.

The Town Tennis Club was founded by Sidney B. Wood, Jr., a former great in the tennis world. About nine years ago Wood decided to try and develop the status of tennis locally. Wood's idea was to find a place in the city where tennis could be enjoyed in a club atmosphere. The present roof-top site is what he found. Four all-weather courts have been installed of two which are located on top of the Doelger brewery and garage on East 56th and 57th Streets.

The Town Tennis Club was founded by Sidney B. Wood, Jr., a former great in the tennis world. About nine years ago Wood decided to try and develop the status of tennis locally. Wood's idea was to find a place in the city where tennis could be enjoyed in a club atmosphere. The present roof-top site is what he found. Four all-weather courts have been installed of two which are located on top of the Doelger brewery and garage on East 56th and 57th Streets.

The Town Tennis Club was founded by Sidney B. Wood, Jr., a former great in the tennis world. About nine years ago Wood decided to try and develop the status of tennis locally. Wood's idea was to find a place in the city where tennis could be enjoyed in a club atmosphere. The present roof-top site is what he found. Four all-weather courts have been installed of two which are located on top of the Doelger brewery and garage on East 56th and 57th Streets.