Funding Resources

The Cost of Attendance (COA) includes: tuition and fees, room and board, books and supplies, transportation and personal/miscellaneous expenses. COA is divided into two types of costs: direct and indirect costs.

- Types of Aid
- Entrance and Exit Loan Counseling
- Federal Work Study Program
- Master Promissory Note
- Financial Literacy Information

Types of Aid

Grants — Awarded to students who show they have financial need. Grants typically do not require repayment.

Loans — A source of aid that must be repaid, usually with interest, after you graduate or stop going to school.

Scholarships — Awarded to students based on special talents, skills or high academic achievement.

Federal Work Study — A program in which students may work and earn money to help pay for school.

Entrance and Exit Loan Counseling

Students who accept Federal Direct Stafford Loan offers are required to complete Entrance Counseling before any funds can be disbursed. This can be done online at <https://studentaid.gov> .

When student borrowers are no longer attending school at least half-time, they are required to complete Exit Counseling, which can also be done by logging in at <https://studentaid.gov>. Students who do not comply with this requirement will be placed on a financial hold, restricting them from registering for classes or receiving grades, transcripts and/or diplomas.

If you borrowed a Federal Perkins Loan during your enrollment at Kean [this program was discontinued in 2017], Exit Counseling for this loan must be completed online by creating an account with Heartland ECSI.

If you are a student or parent borrowing a Direct Loan for the first time, you also must complete and e-sign the applicable Master Promissory Note at <https://studentaid.gov> .
