Dear Sir,

Becauson, demonstra'tio is in excus' as well as in any other matter is certainly the most useful. The absence of the letter in hand will give evidence of its arrival and I suppose you it was wrote to so by Mr. Lecraft. As my business has now moticated me altogether. I wrote it in the country and came in as I thought about an hour be the usual time for setting of. I did so but they were flown and left my epistle to take this method of worming for itself. Pray write me word whether you accept of its ordinance. We have been informed of the declaration of the children of Sir Isaacs brain has at last opened into life. I mean the convention. I am in doubt whether the 2nd was the parent or only one of its nucleus. They tell us it has bypassed your house, and only waits the determination of the hospitals of incurables.* We expect with impatience to hear their decision upon a matter of so great importance to our Hate. If opinions are not practically tried it will once more be thrown out by the Senate. my reason for thirds so it became what says the convention is to be held at Caradoc the very cause of its being rejected last session.

We are so many that I am expected to write a shorter letter than I intended for when I saw you last next to Lewis is married to Miss Smith. He has nothing more left but that in all will and to bid you Adieu.

Bonne Tract.
