GOOD LUCK, SENIORS!

SENIOR WEEK

The first day of Senior Week is the Senior Prom. With a spacious room for a midnight dinner and dancing, it will be a night of gowns, flowers, and music at the Westmount Country Club in Paterson.

Hot dogs, bermudas, and sea breezes make up the theme for the informal party to be held at Belmar, N. J. This is the second day of Senior Week.

Sunday, is the third day of Senior Week. Here we will attend a Baccalaureate Service conducted by Father Daley of Seton Hall University. Baccalaureate, a time of spiritual reflection during Senior Week, will be long remembered.

Then for the first time all semester, a long weekend without homework.

Tuesday will introduce the fourth day of Senior Week. It begins at 10:00 o'clock in the cafeteria with the entire faculty and seniors enjoying the Senior Breakfast.

On the afternoon of June third, the Senior Tea, given by the faculty, will take place. This is our last opportunity to say goodbye to the many professors we have known these past four years. This is the fifth day of Senior Week.

Then the sixth day, one of great importance. Graduation Exercises. Black robes and black caps will parade silently to the gym where our college “daze” end but our professional careers begin. This is the final conviction for seniors. So ends our sixth day of Senior Week.

I.F.S.C. AWARDS ANNOUNCED

The annual Inter-Fraternity-Sorority Council’s Scholarship awards will be presented in September at our first fraternity-sorority tea in which the administration and faculty will be guests. We feel, council and administration, that this will be a fitting highlight and tribute to the recipients. In the past, the scholarships were presented at the honor assembly. The scholarships are awarded to members of the junior class regardless of affiliation with sorority or fraternity, and who have proven themselves scholarly, and have given of their time to school activities, and are worth while and deserving members of our campus.

I am very proud and honored to have the pleasure of announcing that this year’s scholarships are to be given to Joe Kaufman, Mary Mosier and Shelly Galof. I would like to congratulate the recipients on behalf of the members of the fraternities and sororities.

Prom Held

The Junior Prom was held in the Student Center on the evening of May 16, 1959. Under the direction of Junior Class president Jack Mott, and Senior Class president-elect George Mischio, along with the many members of the Prom committees, the Center was decorated in four prevailing motifs. A German Beer Garden occupied the region usually known as the Snack Bar, while just a few steps away a Parisian cafe stood in the lobby of the Center. The Little Theater had been transformed into an oriental garden, and the recreation room had become the scene of a Spanish fiesta.

Further back in the Student Center, the cafeteria had, as if by miracle, become an international ballroom, further implementing the theme of “Around the World.” In the center of the room stood a blue, gray and white cone shaped abstract figure that reached almost to the ceiling. Nearby, the orchestra of Ray Masters provided dancing for the couples, and the Les Blasi Trio provided intermission music.

Officers of the Prom committees included, in addition to Mr. Mott and Mr. Mischio, Aidele Jonas, Joe Martin, Kathi O’Connor and Robert Treat.

Reflections of A Student

By Jerry Minskoff

Where does one start to sum up when saying goodbye? How does one sum up a two-year relationship? The answer is that one doesn’t sum up where Everett Howe is concerned.

A few of us know Mr. Howe only by way of an occasional “Hi!” in the corridor, others of us through having worked with him. Most of us know him because of what he has done for us. I repeat, “What he has done for us.”

Mr. Howe, in innumerable ways, has guided and counseled; he has organized; he has decorated with us; he has cleaned up with us; he has made our Center a real “cultural living room,” etc. But most of all, where the welfare of the students is involved, Mr. Howe has been, and always will be, a doer.

Newark State says so long to Mr. Howe with strings attached. The catch is that we will grow upon what he has helped wean.

Good luck and many thanks, E. Howe!

Howe Honored By College

At the awards assembly last Friday morning, Newark State College accorded Mr. Everett Howe a standing ovation. Mr. Howe was presented with a tape recorder by Mr. Jerry Minskoff, Student Organization president. The money for this gift was donated by the student body and many of the faculty in a show of appreciation for the friendship and guidance that Mr. Howe had given during his years at Newark State. In presenting the gift, Mr. Minskoff stressed that it was only a small token of the sentiments of the college, but it was given with sincerity and true gratitude. In an impromptu speech, Mr. Howe emphasized for his listeners that it would be through their efforts alone that the College Center could become the cultural center of New Jersey. He pointed out the vast cultural resources available within the metropolitan area and consequently the great possibilities of eclectic selection.

Editorially Speaking:

To All The Rest

One can easily note, simply by glancing at this week’s Edition, that we are proud of our Mr. Howe. He has worked diligently and filled his office as well as any man, and better than most men, would. We are truly sorry he must leave.

But in our haste to express our gratitude to one who, unfortunately, will not be with us again in the fall, let us not forget those whose identities are yet unknown but who will also be missing when roll is called come the third week in September. For we have had a full year. There will be few who will argue that our teachers have all worked as well as the rest of their abilities. They have been charged with the responsibility of educating us to be more-than-adequate teachers, and insofar as they were able and had fertile ground to work in, they have to a great extent succeeded. To all of them go our thanks.

But especially would we thank those we may never be able to thank again. We do not know their names; we do not know the subjects they teach. We only know that many of our current teachers will be with us for but a little while. We will not have these same people teaching us in nine months. They have striven mightily for us, and we are not ungrateful. Let these teachers leave knowing that we have no respect for their efforts, let us publicly express to them, though we know their names not, what is in our hearts — a sincere, honest, “Thank you.” God bless them all.

Editorially Speaking:

Et Cetera

In this, the last editorial of the academic year, we are saying goodbye to all our friends and enemies. We fervently hope that there are more of the former than the latter. But in saying goodbye, we refer not to being an end to our lives, but a beginning. We do not view the passing of current teachers as a time for tearful farewells, but a time for new beginnings. We hope that we are not ungrateful to them. Lest these teachers leave us thinking that we are proud of them.

Congratulations To Richie

Our congratulations to Richie Marasco, one of our most efficient sports writers, for his prize-winning effort in a November issue of the REFLECTOR. Richie won third prize in the sports category from the New Jersey College Press Association. They said it couldn't be done, but Richie did it.

Critic's Corner

Intramural Champs
By Gene Campbell

To my surprise, while attending the Athletic Banquet, the seniors were recognized as victors of the Intramural Basketball Tournament. I was aware that the sophomores portrayed fair skill in defeating the freshmen, juniors, and also the "medal receivers," to proclaim themselves winners of the Intramural basketball tournament.

The question that bothers me, as well as many others, is "Why didn't the Sophs receive any recognition at the Athletic Banquet for winning the title?" The seniors walked very proudly to receive the medals, but "did they deserve them?" If seniors are to receive awards because they are graduating, why not conduct the event just between members of the Senior class?

Remember the Past

By Vinnie Guarino '61

The 1958-59 season of sports has been the best in the history of Newark State College. Our basketball team finished the season with a 13-3 record and our baseball team has thus far compiled a fine record of 7-4.

The basketball team started the season with a string of eight straight victories before losing its first game to Bloomfield College. The cagers finished the season in a tie for the New Jersey State Conference lead, and had to meet Glassboro in a playoff for the championship. Glassboro, who Newark had beaten twice previously, beat us 73-57.

Although we had one senior on the starting five, Newark was represented by a veteran club, totally capable of having an undefeated season. Each member of this starting five finished the season with a double figured average.

The outlook for next season is a bright one with the return of Mott, Campbell, Sally, Alavez, Kaufman and the promising freshman material we had this season, we should definitely have another winning campaign.

Our baseball squad also showed improvement over last year and now has the potential of becoming a strong contender for the State Conference title. Jack Mott, a junior, and Tino Furlano, who both came out for the team for the first time, along with Mill Belford and Cookie Uribe, bolstered the Staters hitting attack.

That the squad will only lose senior slugger, Jack Gutjahr, the outlook for our next campaign is the brightest in years. Jack Mott has become an ace on the mound as well as a fine hitting shortstop. Cookie Uribe has proven to be a reliable hitting third baseman and Belford, also a steady hitter, looks to be one of the finest receivers in the area. Fireballer and slugger Manny Alavez, speedster Joe Kaufman, along with veterans George Hopkins and George Hudak and the newcomers will give Newark a solid nine.

Athletic Banquet

The Athletic Banquet was held on May 13. Awards were given to some, and good food to all concerned.

Joe Simons was the D'Angelo Award for contributing the most to athletics at the College. We all realize the job that "Big Daddy" has done, and know that he was deserved of this award. Jack Mott and Manny Alavez received awards for making the All-Conference first team. Jack also received the McKenna Award for outstanding leadership on the court.

Karen Kurowsky won the award for doing the most for female athletes at the College. Our congratulations to the winners, and also to those who put on the affair.

Mott Shuts Out Bloomfield 4-0

"Uribe Clubs as Jack Twirls Two-Hitter"

By Richie Marasco '60

N.S.C. won its seventh game in eleven starts on Monday byblanking Bloomfield College 4-0. It was Jack Mott's second straight straight over Bloomfield, having beaten them earlier in the season 3-2. The Newarkers scored a run in the second, two in the third, and a final run in the eighth, to assist a brilliant two-hit performance by their star hurler. Along with his fine two hitter "Condol" struck out nine, walked only two and faced an amazing total of only twenty-nine batters.

Cookie Uribe, Newark's star freshman third baseman, took batting honors for the tilt. Cookie scored a run in the second after singling and later drove in two runs in the fourth on a single to right center with Alberez and Belford on base.

While Jack Mott's pitching was outstanding during the entire game, some records were due to Bloomfields ace southpaw Don Pizzi. Though he lost the game Pizzi only allowed five safeties. In fact, it had not been for three Bloomfield errors the game would have been a real pitchers duel.

It was encouraging to see N.S.C. play sparkling ball afield, as well as at bat, being errorless over the nine innings. This writer will go as far as saying, this was Newark's best performance to date.

Felllas!

Today we must bid farewell to two of the most prominent athletes that this institution has seen this year. Archie Chiles, basketball standout and captain of this year's outstanding team; and Jack Gutjahr, captain of this year's fine baseball team, will be leaving us through graduation.

Archie has been a standout member of the basketball team for four years, and was also a four-letter man at East Orange High School. He tallied 973 points in his career here at Newark State.

Jack, a graduate of Morristown High School in 1952, spent three years in business before entering Newark State. Aside from being a member of the basketball team for four years, Jack also played on the basketball team in his freshman year. During his senior year at Morristown, the team compiled a 14-3 record, with Jack starring on the hill as well as at first base. This year, after a slow start, Jack has raised his batting average to .432.

Archie and Jack will not only be missed by the athletic followers, but also by their many friends at our college. Newark State's loss is the gain of East Orange and Par-Troy Hills school systems.

Good luck fellows; we will all miss you.
