Charles Pinckney to John Kean, September 18, 1786

Charles Pinckney
New York, September 18: 1786.

Dear Kean,

I shall be obliged to you to make out a private agreement to be signed by the respective agents conformable to our former agreement respecting the names of such gentlemen as it may be proper to fill up the vacancies that may happen, with others out of this city. If you are confined to it will not be very troublesome I am induced to ask the favour of you to draft them.

Yours Truly,

Charles Pinckney
