Respondus Lockdown Browser

Abstract

Respondus Lockdown Browser: In Kean Online we heavily use this software. Essentially it does not allow students to open any additional windows while the test in Blackboard is being conducted. It also prevents students from printing and sharing the tests.

LockDown Browser's name says it all: it "locks down" the browser on a computer or tablet. Students are unable to copy, print, access other applications, or visit other websites during an online exam. LockDown Browser also blocks hundreds of common and advanced methods of digital cheating, such as the use of Virtual Machines, remote desktops, screensharing, instant messaging, screen recording, keystroke combinations, launching applications with timers/alerts, browser cache exploits and much more.
